BRITISH TROOPS LANDED; SMASH NAZIS IN NORWAY

LONDON, April 15 (AP)—Great Britain struck hammer blows at German forces in Norway today, landing soldiers at several points just six days after the Nazi invasion began and announcing the torpedoing of transport and supply ships and renewed attacking of Stavanger airport — terminus for Germany's aerial transports.

Ignoring German claims that seven British submarines had been sunk, the admiralty announced that its undersea fleet had sunk two German transports and scored four hits on a transport convoy in the Skagerrak.

BRITISH MARINES—Reported in Narvik, Arctic port of Norway, were several British marines today after attack by air and sea routed Germans . . . such marines as these, shown operating an anti-aircraft gun on the battleship Repulse.

BRITISH ROUT FOES INTO NARVIK HILLS

STOCKHOLM, April 15 (AP)—British forces were reported today to have landed in Narvik under the protection of naval shellfire which drove the Germans from the northern Norwegian ore port into the mountainous interior.

The British warships which raided Narvik Saturday, apparently preparatory to a landing by British soldiers or marines, were said to have the city under control of their guns.

This report, from the Norwegian radio at the port of Bodo, south of Narvik, followed a Norwegian army communique reporting that Norwegian troops north and west of Narvik were ready to attack the Germans.

GERMANS IN RETREAT

The Norwegian commander said the German forces had retreated hastily and were believed to be incapable of strong resistance to the Norwegians who, he said, are now fully mobilized in the north.

These sources said that all German warships in Narvik, hopelessly outweighed by the stronger British naval force, had been sunk while trying to keep the British out of Rombaks fjord, which controls the port.

According to the Norwegian version, the British battleship Warspite, screned by a division of destroyers, forced the mouth of the fjord. Norwegians considered it unlikely that the Germans would be able to land troops in Narvik again.

They said there had not been any heavy British bombardment before landing forces were sent ashore but that Narvik's biggest building, the new Hotel Royal, had been destroyed.

In southeastern Norway, sporadic fighting between German and Norwegian forces brought the invading Nazis nearer the Swedish border.

The Norwegians, meanwhile were urged to greater efforts by their ageing Socereign, King Haakon VII, who last night broadcast an appeal to his people to fight on for "freedom and independence."

The king, who has been driven from town to town by pursuing German bombers since he abandoned Oslo with his government last week, spoke from an unidentified station somewhere in the interior.

3000 NORSE FLEE

Despite the heartening effect which the King's appeal was expected to have on Norwegian morale, the country's defenders appeared to be fighting a losing battle on the southern front.

Swedish authorities announced that 3000 Norwegians, seemingly hard pressed, had fled across the frontier near Halden at the southernmost tip of Norway and had been disarmed and interned.

The Germans were said to have driven several miles beyond Halden to Kornsjo, a border station on the

Another German transport was reported set on fire by bombs from the air arm of the fleet while the Royal Air Force during the night blasted Stavanger for the fifth time, causing a fire and explosion attributed to a possible hit on a gasoline dump.

While official information was lacking on the number of men and the points where the British expeditionary force landed, Norwegian sources said the British occupied Narvik in the far north.

OTHER LIKELY PORTS

Other points considered among the most likely landing places are Namsos, about 100 miles north of German-held Trondheim and Andalsnes, about 100 miles south of Trondheim.

The quickened tempo of the war in the north was related in terse communiques from the war office, the Admiralty and the air ministry.

A joint War Office-Admiralty communique merely said:

"British forces have now landed at several points in Norway."

(International News Service dispatches from London said observers there agreed the announcement foreshadowed a full-scale engagement between British and German forces on Norwegian soil, far exceeding in violence and strategic importance any of the skirmishes that have occurred along the Maginot-Siegfried lines.

(It was generally assumed, the INS said, that Narvik, the far northerly port from which Germany's needed supplies of Swedish ore have been shipped in tremendous quantities since the outbeak of hostilities and before, was one of the landing scenes.

NEWS EXCITES LONDON

(It was thought likely, the INS dispatch continued, that the British also might have landed at Trondheim, north of Bergen, this being a city generally regarded by observers as the pivotal point in Britain's campaign to establish a strategic railhead in Norway. This would precede the opening of communications for a determined attempt to drive the Nazis from their most recently occupied territory.

(News of the landing was flashed on the radio and all London newspapers rolled out extra editions the INS reported, leaving the nation agog for more details of what is probably the most audacious British maneuver undertaken since the time of Nelson.

(This electrifying disclosure of British initiative was made by Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty. By an ironic quirk of fate, it was Churchill who engineered and carried out the Gallipoli campaign in a desperate but futile effort to seize and close the Dardanelles.

7 NAZI SHIPS SUNK

(Germans in Berlin, meanwhile, acknowledged that Narvik was blockaded while German defensive works were reported being strengthened at Trondheim, Bergen, Stavanger and Kristiansand.)

British warships were reported to have destroyed seven German

WAR HIGHLIGHTS — With Narvik (1) entirely in British hands after sea victory, German hope of controlling the rail route from the Swedish iron mines (2) to the Norwegian coast is shattered. British troops also were reported to have landed at Namsos, 100 miles north of Trondheim (3), but Nazis still occupied Bergen (4). Elverum (5) was reported in Nazi hands and Oslo (6) is still under German control. German-occupied Stavanger (7) was attacked by British planes, new mine fields in the Baltic (8) blockade ore routes from Sweden to Germany, and 70,000 Nazis were reported massed in Denmark (9) ready for drive on Norway.

F. D. Warns Europe New World Supreme

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 15—President Roosevelt today gave notice to a strife-ridden world that the Americas—the United States and her 20 sister republics—do not want war, but that if war comes, the forces of the new world will be "irresistible."

Addressing the 50th anniversary meeting of the Pan-American Union, the President recalled the agreements of Buenos Aires and Lima for joint action should peace of the Americas be threatened. He said:

"At Panama we worked out ways and means for keeping war away from this hemisphere. Pray God that we shall not have to do more than that; but should it be necessary, I am convinced that we should be wholly successful. The inner strength of a group of free people is irresistible when they are prepared to act."

Turning directly to Europe's war, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Today we can have no illusions. Old dreams of universal empire are again rampant. We hear of races which claim the right of mastery. We learn of groups which insist they have the right to impose their way of life on other nations. We encounter economic compulsions shrewdly devised to force great areas into political spheres of influence.

"All of this is not of mere academic interest. We know that what happens in the old world directly and powerfully affects the peace and well-being of the new. It was for this very reason that we have adopted procedures that enable us to meet any eventuality."

The President said the new world is again face to face with the old problem of a peace similar to that enjoyed in the Pan-American republics as against the "dangerous and temporary peace of balance of power" or the peace of universal conquest.

"We of this hemisphere have no need to seek a new international order; we have already found it," the President declared.

"This was not won by hysterical outcries or violent movements of troops. We did not stamp out nations, capture governments, or uproot innocent people from the homes they had built. We did not invent absurd doctrines of race supremacy, or claim dictatorship through universal revolution."

The President asserted that in

ITALY NAVY MASSES, ALLIES HIT

LONDON, April 15 (INS)—The London Times today reported units of the Italian fleet are concentrating off the Dodecanese Islands near the entrance to the Dardanelles and about 400 miles from the Suez canal.

Such Italian naval action, the Times said, has been noted by the British Government as part of a general picture in which the quickly sharpened Italian press campaign against the Allies fitted.

Britain's Balkan envoys, who have been in England for the past several days, are scheduled to confer in the foreign office later today and they may leave for their posts in the latter part of the week.

The Italian fleet it was reported here, was concentrated while Germany was invading Scandinavia. Diplomats think it may be part of an "axis" which would tend to restrain the Allies and Turkey from moving against Germany in the Balkans while Hitler was seeking control of Scandinavia.

The move, these experts thought, was intended to keep the allied near eastern armies on guard around the Suez and at the same time to warn Turkey not to permit allied naval units to enter the Black sea through the Dardenelles.

Germany is expected to inform Danubian countries she will send gunboats to patrol the river and protect German shipments of Rumanian and Russian oil. They forecast that if Germany took such action, the Allies would ask Turkey for permission to send naval units into the Black Sea.

The presence of an Italian fleet in the Dodecanese might cause Turkey to refuse such a request.

Italians See War Near, Ciano Spokesman Warns

ROME, April 15 (AP)—Belief that Italy and other nations would be drawn into the war soon was freely expressed today in Rome.

Giovanni Ansaldo, a newspaper writer who often speaks for Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, told Italian troops yesterday in a broadcast that the spread of war to Scandinavia showed "no people in Europe can isolate itself from the conflict."

He said Italy was preparing for

U-BOAT ATTACKS STEAMER 300 MILES OFF HALIFAX

Interception of distress signals from the British steamer Graig, indicating that she was in imminent danger of an attack by a German submarine in the North Atlantic, 300 miles off Halifax, was reported today by Mackay Radio at Thomaston, Me.

Some hours later Mackay reported it had heard a radio station, presumably Canadian, report that the freighter's distress signal had been "all cleared up."

Mackay was unable to say, however, whether the later message meant that the Graig had escaped the submarine and no longer needed assistance, or that she had met serious trouble through attack and was unable to send additional calls for help.

VEILED IN MYSTERY

Details of the encounter between the freighter and the unidentified underseas craft remained a mystery.

It was explained by Mackay that "distress all cleared up" meant that the air lanes had been cleared of the Graig's distress calls and had "returned to normal work with other ships."

The possibility remained also, it was said, that the submarine was a British craft or belonged to a nation neutral or friendly to Britain.

The first word from the freighter had ended with the terse phrase, "Sub coming close."

Lloyd's register lists the Graig as a ship of 3683 gross tons, registered from Cardiff, Wales, and owned by the Graig Shipping Company of London. The ship was built in 1924.

HIGH AND COLD—That was the condition of Massachusetts streams today as the trout fishing season began. Opening day conditions were about as bad as they could be, with ice edging pools, streams away over banks, water roily. As a consequence, opening day catches, except on ponds, were spotty in the extreme. Doris MacLellan of East Weymouth had to work hard for her trout, as shown in the picture sequence, taken at Eccord brook in Hingham.

Mishap Delays Hub Train 40 Minutes

Breaking of a knuckle on the fourth coach in a 10-car New Haven Railroad train on the Greenbush to Boston run delayed commuters 40 minutes today. The breakdown occurred at North Scituate, where the disabled coach was dropped off.

Commuters who usually board the train at Braintree and Norfolk Downs were not delayed as the railroad arranged for the Hyannis express to take on passengers at both stations.

Father of 5 Hurled Into River, Drowned

WEBSTER, April 15—A father of five small children, attacked by a burly youth apparently without provocation, was hurled into the rain-swollen Maanexit River and drowned today, within 200 feet of his home, police reported.

The victim was identified as Charles Orzech, 54, of Dudley.

His body was recovered in a canal 50 yards from the scene of the alleged attack.

Police got their story of the death from John Kozik, 40, also of Dudley. He said he and Orzech were walking home together when a youth about 20 years old accosted them.

On the Chase ave. bridge, near Orzech's home, the death struggle suddenly started, according to Kozik.

"The stranger said, 'I know you, Orzech,' and just started throwing punches," the victim's friend was quoted as saying.

As Kozik rushed to his companion's assistance, the youthful assailant shoved the older man into the water, then fled. Kozik ran to the police station and an alarm was sent to neighboring towns and state police.

After several hours search by police, fireman and state troopers, Orzech's body was found by Patrolman Joseph Trambowicz of Dudley.

The body was in a small canal leading from the main river to the abandoned Chase mills.

Police held Kozik for further questioning. His home is in Pearl st., Dudley.

Injured Driver Cut From Taxi

So tightly was he pinned in his taxicab after a collision with another machine today in Cambridge that James H. Horton, 24, of Massachusetts ave., Cambridge, had to be cut free by firemen under Capt. John Lavey.

Horton's cab was in collision with a sedan, operated, police said, by Leslie G. Jillson of Plymouth st., Cambridge, at Broadway and Quincy st.

The cab driver suffered a fractured nose ,fracture of the right hand, severe lacerations and a bitten tongue, requiring several stitches.

Jillson escaped injury.

Flint Hero's Norse Bride In America

Torn between joy and fears, Miss Ruth W. Engelson, 23-year-old Norwegian heiress, reached America's shores on this, the day of her wedding to Carl C. Ellis, 23, of Newton, hero third officer on the history-making freighter City of Flint.

The fears for the safety of her family in the Nazi-held city of Bergen, Norway, from which she sailed two weeks ago on board the liner Bergensfjord, the last vessel to leave Bergen before the German "Blitzkrieg" struck her homeland.

Hers was an international romance which took weeks of diplomatic correspondence to bring about fruition. She met Ellis when the City of Flint, once a German prize, was provisioning in Bergen and nearby ports.

QUICK BETROTHEL

Permitted ashore after the Flint was released from custody of a German crew, Ellis was introduced to his bride-to-be by a Norwegian ensign.

Love didn't linger and the engagement of the couple was announced in two weeks at a reception given by the Engelsen family to crew members of the much traveled Flint.

But when Ellis sailed for America, he was forced to leave his future wife behind. Now that is all straightened out under provision that she marry immediately on her arrival in America.

QUITS SEA LIFE

That's why Ellis took along Robert Bleckler of Winchester, his best man, on the trip to New York. It is expected they may even wed before Miss Engelson leaves Ellis Island.

Because of Miss Engelsen's wishes, Ellis has quit the City of Flint and the sea. He expects to enter the employ of a Delaware firm.

Ellis, whose father is a Boston paper and twine merchant, attended Newton and Winchester high schools and was graduated from the Massachusetts Nautical Training Schoolship Nantucket in 1936 at the head of his class.

Trapped in Fire, Injured by Leap

Trapped by flames which swept his bedroom, Byron Cashell, 29, leaped from a third-floor window of a lodging house in Stedman st., Brookline, today and received severe spinal injuries.

Police and firemen found the victim, a grocery store clerk, lying unconscious on the pavement, 35 feet below.

He was rushed to Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a broken pelvis, abrasion and possible internal injuries. The fire was confined to the victim's room, with a loss of $150, fire officials said.

Eight others were forced out by the smoke.

3 Suffer Burns In Crash Fire

ESMOND, R. I., April 15 (AP)—Three persons were burned, one of them critically, today when their car overturned and caught fire after striking an embankment. A fourth occupant was uninjured.

David Doyle, 22, of Centerdale, R. I., driver of the car, was taken to Providence Hospital, with severe burns. His name was on the danger list.

Pearl Wright, 20, of Greystone, R. I., also suffered burns, as did Eileen Low of Esmond.

'Danged Yankee' Lauds Royal Navy

Wife Trouble Traps Mail Order Romeo

Arthur Bond Cotthaus, 44, of Hyde Park st., Dedham, described by police as a mail order Romeo, faced bigamy charges at Nashua, N. H., today in the aftermath of a quarrel with his fifth and present wife.

Cotthaus was turned over to Nashua authorities after appearance in Dedham court on a charge of striking his bride of four months, the former Helen Elizabeth Taylor, 49, widowed mother of two children, with whom he eloped to Nashua in December.

Her only comment on his arrest was:

"I hope they keep him locked up so he can't do this to anyone else."

Police charge that prior to his latest marriage he had tried matrimonial agencies to find him a wife.

According to police, Cotthaus was still legally wed to a Denver, Colo., woman when he wooed and won the Dedham widow.

According to Nashua authorities, the "mail order Lothario's" first wife died, his second and third matrimonial ventures ended in divorce and early in 1936 he took as his fourth bride Helen Bastis of Denver, Colo., and lived with her there until his return to Dedham last August.

Kane Demands Probe Of Dever Office Cost

Mayor William E. Kane of Woburn said today he was going to call on Gov. Saltonstall this week and demand a probe of the office of Atty.-Gen. Paul A. Dever and other state officials.

Kane told the Real Estate Owners' and Tenants' League at Tremont Temple that he particularly wanted the chief executive to investigate why expenses in the attorney general's office increased from $91,000 in 1934 to $154,000 in 1938.

State officials, he charged, are holding "fake jobs and roam the state seeking to harass the city and town officials who are honestly seeking to reduce their tax rates."

In his complaint, he specifically referred to jobs held by Raymond O'Connell of Springfield, counsel of the division of industrial safety in the state department of labor and industries; John B. Regan, Watertown, an investigator in the same division, and Raymond Fitzgerald, Cambridge, official in the state department of education.

"What is the need of all these special counsels?" he asked. "Why can't the officials in the attorney-general's office interpret the law for the various state departments when the number of employes, exclusive of attorneys, has jumped in the attorney-general's office from 21 in 1934 to 38 employes in 1938?"

Kane said his demands upon the governor follow an unsuccessful attempt by Attorney O'Connell and Investigator Regan to seek complaints against the mayor for his refusal to pay several weeks wages to a cleaner and laborer in the Woburn High School.

Plan Complete Harbor Survey

The most complete survey of Boston Harbor in 25 years is planned by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Service, it was revealed by Lieut. Henry E. Finnegan on his arrival here today from Washington.

While channels are regularly surveyed, it was pointed out by authorities, it has been 25 years since the whole of Boston Harbor has been surveyed in a thorough manner.

Lieut. Finnegan is conferring with Lieut. Ronald R. Moore, who is in charge of the Boston office, in drafting plans for the survey.

The proposed work marks culmination of an intense drive by groups and individuals interested in Boston Harbor for adequate information on bottom conditions.

FARLEY'S PRAISE FOR F. D.

PROVIDENCE, April 15—Postmaster-General James A. Farley conferred with Democratic party leaders today after a Jefferson Day dinner here in which he praised President Roosevelt, blasted the Republican party and entirely ignored his own candidacy for President.

His failure to plead his own cause lent strength to reports that a draft Roosevelt campaign is underway, in the minds of political observers.

"NEVER LIBERAL"

Farley charged that the Republican Old Guard is reaching out to control the coming Republican convention at Philadelphia.

"The Republican party never has been liberal," he said. "It has a fringe of liberals who strive continually to bring it into step with the common people but they have been disappointed in the past and they will be disappointed again this year.

"The Old Guard is now reaching out with its money bags to control the Philadelphia convention and dictate party nominees."

After praising President Roosevelt he said of Republican chances:

"It is still true that you can't beat somebody with nobody."

"It is to the eternal credit of the President," he continued, "that throughout this time of disaster and woe he has followed without deviation the course of peace and quickened the moral conscience of the world with a plea for an end to hostilities."

ATTACKS VANDERBILT

U. S. Sen. Theodore F. Green, another speaker, announced that the impending senatorial committee investigation of wire tapping will "expose facts of interest not only to the citizens of Rhode Island, but also to those of the whole nation."

He was one of those who attacked Republican Gov. William H. Vanderbilt for his alleged part in recent wire tapping cases in this state.

Former Governor Robert E. Quinn called Gov. Vanderbilt the leader of the "cheapest aggregation of political medicine men who ever worked a shell game under the political big top."

10 Killed Week's Auto Toll for State

Ten persons were killed by automobiles in Massachusetts last week, the same number as the corresponding week a year ago, although 28,000 more cars were on the road, it was reported by Registrar Frank A. Goodwin.

In the death toll, only two were children and only one the occupant of an automobile. Of the nine pedestrians who lost their lives, six were killed under cover of darkness.

Motorists in Rush For Inspection O. K.

Motorists began a last-minute rush for automobile inspections today on warning from Registrar Frank A. Goodwin that registrations will be suspended on all machines found to have faulty equipment after Wednesday.

On that day, more than 200 registry inspectors will take to the highways in a state-wide check.

6 Flee Two-Alarm Blaze in Arlington

Six persons in two families fled a double-alarm fire which destroyed their house in Amsden st., Arlington, today.

Flames broke out in the basement and rapidly ate up through the three floors of the building. Scores of nearby houses and the Trinity Baptist Church, Massachusetts ave. and Amsden st., were illuminated by the glow of the fire as it burst through the roof.

Because of the danger to the neighborhood, Chief Daniel B. Tierney ordered the second alarm. Apparatus responded from Belmont, Cambridge, Medford and Somerville.

Mrs. Florence Condon, 45, her daughter, Mary, 25, and son, Paul, 19 were driven from their apartment in the first floor, while Mr. and Mrs. Hebert Trofatter escaped from the second floor with their 3-year-old son, Herbert, Jr. Two other Trofatter children were away from home at the time.

Both families lost all their possessions and the house was a total loss, officials said. Damage was estimated at $8500.

Revere Rushes Bathing Suits

Although spring is still in the lap of winter, women were working at top speed at the State Bath House in Revere today to replenish the stock of 600 bathing suits.

Some 3000 new suits, of all shapes and sizes, are required this year for the bathing season, which normally starts about June 15, said Mrs. Cassie Gardner, who is directing the sewing machine work.

Men's bathing suits represent about 70 per cent of the replacements, she said. They aren't so fussy, she explained, while the women prefer to bring their own daring and colorful costumes.

JACKSON LASHES BRIDGES

WASHINGTON, April 15 (INS)—Attorney General Robert H. Jackson publicly labeled Senator Styles Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire, as "the infant terrible of the contemporary political scene."

Jackson scored the Republican in a biting reply to the Senate floor charge of Bridges that he was guilty of political partisanship and religious prejudice in handling federal prosecutions.

The Attorney General, obviously smarting under Bridges' attack, declared in a caustic, prepared statement to the press that Bridges is "not taken seriously even by members of his own party," and accused the Senator, a presidential aspirant, of determining to "inflict his candidacy upon his party and the country."

On the Senate floor Thursday, Bridges accused Jackson of embarking on a "sit-down strike against jailing Communists," while persisting in prosecution of some New York Catholics charged with offenses similar to those dropped against a group of Detroit Communists.

Bridges also asked for explanations why federal graft and corruption investigations had been dropped in Connecticut, New Jersey, Illinois, Florida, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Jackson charged that Bridges' criticism was based on cases pending in courts, and was intended "to prejudice the government's case" in at least one instance.

Jackson recited, in answer to Bridges' inquiry "what had become" of a Hot Springs, Ark. investigation, that four officials and associates had been indicted, convicted and are serving maximum prison terms. He said this cas was "long disposed of," so he could discuss it without prejudice.

Lillian to Wed Love Socker

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Lillian Roth says she's going to marry the man who socked her.

The man is Eugene Weiner, securities salesman, against whom Miss Roth filed an assault charge some weeks ago after sustaining a fractured jaw.

Since then she has twice tried unsuccessfully to get the court to let her call the whole thing off. The hearing is scheduled for today.

Whatever the outcome, Miss Roth said "we're in love," but the ceremony will have to wait until after Aug. 1 when her divorce from Municipal Court Justice Benjamin Shalleck becomes final.

Dead in Car, Malden Man Called Suicide

Charles W. Brodie, 48, Malden insurance man, who was found dead by hunters behind the wheel of his locked car in an isolated section of Lynnfield Woods, was pronounced a suicide today by Medical Examiner Joseph Murphy.

Death was due to deadly fumes which poured from the exhaust through a hose which ran into the car. Brodie had suffered heart trouble, police said.

Me. Probers Follow Ladies-Liquor Trail

AUGUSTA, Me., April 15—Three L's—ladies, liquor and law—today highlighted the sensational probe of the accounts of the resigned State Controller William A. Runnells.

Investigators, following a trail of whimsical financing, were tracing gifts the 45-year-old bachelor made while allegedly embarked on a spending orgy with money which authorities charge he stole.

The liquor angle developed with disclosure that auditors began a probe of the Maine State Liquor Commission, the state's most lucrative source of revenue.

On the legal side—the Maine Supreme Judicial Court was called on to decide today whether the Legislature shall convene in extraordinary session to conduct its own probe of what Gov. Lewis O. Barrows has termed a "black page" in Maine history.

RECOVERS FROM WOUND

Meanwhile, the principal himself a state controller, was reported recovering in Augusta Hospital from bullet wounds, which he said were accidentally self-inflicted. He has been charged with embezzlement of part of a shortage in excess of $35,000.

Another highlight was disclosed by one of a dozen auditors that the books of only one state department are in perfect order and those are in the department of insurance, the head of which, Harold E. Rodgers, a Boston University graduate, was named as state controller to replace Runnells.

QUIZ GIRL EMPLOYE

A girl employe of Runnells' department was being questioned by investigators about a receipt for $700 found at Runnells' home.

The receipt, investigators said, bore a notation that the $700 was paid to her out of Runnells' personal funds for "overtime work."

Before the alleged embezzlements, Gov. Barrows had called a special session of the Legislature for Thursday. But, now seeking to defer it, he appealed to the State Supreme Court to determine legality of the proposed postponement.

Although the Governor reiterated that he is going through with his probe "to the bitter end," those who want an investigation by a legislative committee declare themselves against a probe of the administration by the administration.

The legal point involved is whether the governor has the right to defer the opening of the Legislature after once sending out a proclamation for its convocation.

Wed the Girls They Criticize

Harvard undergraduates speak and write disparagingly about Radcliffe students, but when they grow up to be big men, 50 per cent of them marry Radcliffe girls.

This was the stinging rebuke handed editors of the magazine, Harvard Progressive, and Robert Stange, a junior, who wrote that Radcliffe girls are divided into two groups: "The tall kind that wear hornrim glasses and carry an armful of books and the short kind, with frizzed hair and wrinkled stockings."

"Just another example of the intolerable snooty attitude of Harvard men in general," a spokeswoman for Radcliffe retorted. "Anyway, they undergo a change of attitude after they graduate and get to be men. Fifty per cent of them marry into Radcliffe."

Torso Found Trussed in Sack

CHICAGO, April 15 (AP)—The nude and dismembered torso of an unidentified man, about 60 years old, was found trussed up in a burlap sack near an undertaking establishment here today.

Near the sack which contained the torso, police found the legs covered with another sack.

The head and hands also had been severed in a crude manner but investigators were unable to locate them immediately.

Sergt. John Boland said he was not sure the man had been murdered, theorizing that he might have died of natural causes and that the body might have been dismembered to dispose of it.

NAZIS FLEE TO HILLS, BRITISH HOLD NARVIK

railway between Oslo and Goteborg, only to retire later.

There were reports, however, that despite determined German efforts to clear out all resistance between Oslo and the Swedish border 30 miles away, Norwegian troops still were clinging to positions between Mysen and Kongsvinger. Mysen is about 15 miles south east of Oslo and Kongsvinger about 35 miles northeast of the capital, not far from the Swedish border.

A recapitulation of reports indicated that the Germans had occupied most of the territory within a 50 or 60-mile radius to the south, west and north of Oslo.

HOLD BIG AREA

Frederikstad, Sarpsborg, Holmestrand, Kongsberg, Drammen and Hokksund, all south or west of the caiptal, were reported in Nazi hands. North of the city the Germans were said to be holding all the area to Lake Mjosen, including the towns of Jevnaker, Lillestrom, Romerike, Honefoss and Eidsvold.

German troops also were reported to have occupied Elverum, which is about 35 miles from Oslo and north and slightly to the east of Lake Mjosen. This village, where the government stopped temporarily after abandoning Oslo, was said to be in ruins, with scarcely a wall standing.

The villages of Hamar and Gjovik on the northern shores of Lake Mjosen were bombed intermittently by German warplanes, and the area was virtually abandoned by its civilian population.

Swedish correspondents reported there had been heavy fighting last night near Skarnes, about 40 miles no theast of Oslo and 20 miles from the Swedish frontier. Norwegian troops in this sector were said to have been reinforced by volunteers recently returned from Finland, who were described as showing "first rate" fighting qualities.

SWEDEN QUIET

Sweden itself remained quiet and fears of involvement in the struggle appeared to be easing. That the nation's armed forces are on the alert, however, was emphasized yesterday when Swedish anti-aircraft batteries opened fire on a three-motored German plane which flew over the Udevalla military barracks, and brought it down in flames after it had disregarded a warning shot.

An unknown number of the crew was killed. One of the airmen was taken to a hospital.

Several hours earlier a German junkers plane had made a forced landing near Grebbestad on Sweden's west coast. The crew of three was interned.

From the Swedish border town of Riksgransen in the far north came persistent reports that heavy clouds of smoke had been observed in the direction of Narvik and that German troops occupying that port in Arctic Norway had been driven into the hills by the guns of Britain's navy.

COMPLETE COMMAND

The British were reported in complete command of the water approach to the port and were expected to land troops today.

Swedish correspondents said there was evidence of long range preparation for the German invasion in the Narvik area. Practically the entire Nazi landing party there was said to have been composed of men who had plied between Narvik and Germany on German ore ships and were familiar with the area around the port.

Reports of treachery which aided the German invaders to gain a foothold on Norway's northern coast continued to trickle into Sweden. One story said that when the German arrived they found many Norwegian military cars parked nearby without a guard and used them to facilitate their movements.

One German lieutenant, it was said, was recognized as a member of a hiking club who had spent several months in Narvik.

The appeal broadcast to the Norwegian nation by King Haakon described the German invasion as "the worst visitation my people have experienced in more than 100 years."

"I direct an urgent appeal to all Norwegian men and women," the King said, "to do everything they can to save the freedom and independence of our dear fatherland."

The Monarch said his country had been attacked "by a mighty adversary which did not shrink from bombing a peaceful people," and asserted that women and children had been subjected to "barbarous sufferings" during the invasion.

The hospital was said to have been demolished but without casualties. The mission was heavily damaged with no injuries.

Armed Nazi Ship Heads For N. Y.?

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Capt. Matthew Anzjon, master of the Norwegian-American liner Bergensfjord, which arrived today from Gothenburg, Sweden, said he sighted a vessel without identifying marks off Nantucket yesterday. He said he believed the ship was German and was headed for New York.

Capt. Anzjon said that the vessel was armed and that he could discern, through his glasses, equipment for handling cattle, leading him to believe the ship might be coming here to load horses for military use.

He said the ship was moving fast and should arrive in New York tonight if this is her destination.

The Bergensfjorn carried $19,500,000 in gold from the Scandinavian countries.

destroyers in Narvik harbor, in northern Norway, Saturday.

The fifth British aerial attack on Stavanger, a port on the western coast and near the southern tip of Norway, was said by the British to have been perhaps the most effective raid there.

The British said that one pilot of the coastal command flight, which was said to have returned "without damage," reported a sudden red glow at Stavanger apparently caused by a big explosion, perhaps one of Germany's hastily-built gasoline dumps.

Another pilot, describing the greeting which the raiders received from the ground defenses, said:

"The air was simply alive with blue and orange searchlights, rockets and shells, which burst into groups of four bluish white stars.

DOOM ALL AIRPORTS

"We sailed through it and dropped our bombs right on the target. My rear gunner sprayed bullets down the beam of one blue pencil of searchlight which picked us up and it went out at once."

Germany's novel maneuver in transporting large numbers of troops by planes is causnig little alarm to the British, it was said in London.

Neutral military experts expressed belief that the British intended to carry out systematic destruction of niland airdromes and strafe water bases to prevent the landing of troops.

"At the same time," these sources said, "they feel that the allied navies control the seas and can prevent what troops already are in Norway from obtaining heavy guns, mechanized equipment, ammunition and food."

The admiralty said that further reports from British submarines "indicate that another two German transports have been sunk and that besides this a convoy of enemy transports was attacked in the Skagerrak when four torpedoes found their mark."

ATTACK ON SCHER

Fifteen airplanes from the British fleet, the admiralty added, made another attack on transports and aircraft in Bergen and "several hits were obtained."

"One transport was set afire, a small storeship was sunk and one large flying boat was machine-gunned and burst into flames," the Admiralty added. "One of our aircraft failed to return."

(In Brelin, Germany announced two more allied submarines had been sunk, making a total of seven in recent days, and acknowledged that British air raiders had sunk a Naza merchantman at Bergen.)

Earlier, the British had reported a successful attack upon the German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer, the laying of a minefield barrier across Germany's Baltic backdoor, and other blows against German naval power.

The British also promised Sweden help if she suffers the same fate as her Scandinavian neighbors, Norway and Nenmark, which were invaded by Germany last Tuesday to "protect" their neutrality.

While the British Isles rang with cheers for the Royal Navy's exploit's, Britain kept a watchful eye on the tense lowland countries and the Balkans, against the possibility Germany's invasion of Denmark and Norway might foreshadow extension of the conflict to other neutrals.

The Admiralty announcement concerning the Admiral Scheer, sister-ship of the ill-fated Admiral Graf Spee which was scuttled after a naval battle off South America last December, said she had been "successfully attacked" Thursday by the submarine Spearfish.

No mention was made whether the 10,000-ton battleship was sunk, but the announcement said she probably had been hit by "more than one torpedo."

For the Spearfish it was revenge. Last October the submarine hid for hours on the ocean floor while German naval units dropped depth charges in an effort to wreck her.

Britain's brief announcement of new mine-laying forays described only in outline the creation of a barricade across the entire German Baltic coast from Kiel to Lithuania.

The Admiralty kept secret how its ships had been able to penetrate those waters past German-occupied Denmark, but naval observers said the new minefield meant that a total of 100,000 square miles of sea were loaded with explosives, probably the largest naval opeartion of this kind in history.

STOPS ORE SHIPMENTS

The barrier was designed to bottle up any German warships now in port, disrupt Germany's Baltic trade—particularly Swedish iron ore shipments—and head off any German plan to invade Sweden.

(A British Broadcasting Corporation broadcast picked up in New York said the minefield already was claiming victims when Swedish sailors saw German transports sunk by the mines off Lysekil, Sweden.)

MARKED FOR DEATH—The Norwegian government announced today that "German aircraft evidently have orders to attack King Haakon of Norway, as they are bombing each successive place he stays in."

Belgium Girds Army For Surprise Attack

THE HAGUE, April 15 (AP)—The Low Countries, determined not to be taken unawares by any threatening moves of Europe's warring powers, maintained an alert watch on their frontiers today, but official circles were outwardly calm, and there were few signs of public anxiety over the future.

Special defense measures were taken in both the Netherlands and Belgium, but these were closely guarded as military secrets. Theaters and cafes in all the larger cities did a normal peacetime business.

Government circles expressed indignation over foreign reports that there was imminent possibility of action by either the Germans or the Allies which might spread the war to the lowlands. The rumors were termed ill-considered and malicious.

In Belgium, however, an organization of World War veterans suggested creation of a large auxiliary police force recruited from their ranks and designation of concentration camp sites where undesirable foreigners might be detained.

"It is logical to conceive of a surprise attack executed on our ministries, our barracks, our public stations, our banks and public institutions," the veterans said.

A British reconnaissance plane, attacked by Nazi airmen on the German side of the frontier yesterday, crashed just inside Dutch territory near the village of Babberik in the northeastern province of Gelderland.

his opinion the principles upon which the Pan-American Union is founded must "in great measure at least" be the basis for enduring peace throughout the world. These principles, Mr. Roosevelt continued, include:

1—Freedom from fear of coercion or invasion.

2—Agreement, "as neighbors should, to mind our own businesses."

3—Resolve to settle all disputes by friendly negotiation as against force.

WITHOUT TERROR, FORCE

4—Recognition of the principle that "only through vigorous and mutually beneficial economic relations can each of us have adequate access to materials and opportunities necessary to a rising level of economic well-being for our peoples."

"The Inter-American order was not built by hatred and terror," the President said. "It has been paved by the endless and effective work of men of good will. We have built a foundation for the lives of hundreds of millions. We have unified these lives by a common devotion to a moral order.

"The co-operative peace in the western hemisphere was not created by wishing, and it will require more than words to maintain it. In this association of nations, whoever touches any one of us touches all of us. We have only asked that the world go with us in the path of peace but we shall be able to keep that way open only if we are prepared to meet force with force if challenge is ever made."

Tracing the history of the Pan-American Union and recalling that it was founded as the result of the conference of Panama in 1826, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"At that time it took bold minds even to dream of universal peace. And yet, the congress of Panama gave clear expression to precisely that aspiration. Before that time, there had been but two systems of peace known to the world. One of them had been the peace of universal conquest, which Rome had achieved and lost, and which Napoleon had vainly endeavored to imitate. The other was the dangerous and temporary peace of balance of power—which even in 1826 was plainly no permanent solution.

"At the Congress of Panama, the American nations proclaimed the ideal of a co-operative peace; the peace of free equals, freely agreeing to settle whatever differences might arise among them by none but pacific means—determined to co-operate with each other for the greater good of all.

NEW CRISIS TODAY

"Fifty years of unremitting effort have brought our republics far along the road that leads to this goal. Today, as never before, our nations have reason to appreciate the fruits of that progress. For today we are again face to face with the old problem.

"Universal and stable peace remains a dream. War, more horrible and destructive than ever, has laid its blighting hand on many parts of the earth.

"Peace among our American nations remains secure because of the instruments we have succeeded in creating. They embody, in great measure at least, the principles upon which, I believe, enduring peace must be based throughout the world.

"Peace reigns today in the Western Hemisphere because our nations have liberated themselves from fear. No nation is truly at peace if it lives under the shadow of coercion or invasion. By the simple process of agreeing that each nation shall respect the integrity and independence of the others, the New World has freed itself of the greatest and simplest cause of war.

"Self-restraint and the acceptance of the equal rights of our neighbors as an act of effective will has given us the peace we have had, and will preserve that peace so long as we abide by this ultimate moral law.

MIND OWN BUSINESS

"Peace reigns among us today because we have agreed, as neighbors should, to mind our own businesses. We have renounced, each and all of us, any right to intervene in each other's domestic affairs, recognizing that free and independent nations must shape their own destinies and find their own ways of life.

"Peace reigns among us today because we have resolved to settle any dispute that should arise among us by friendly negotiation in accordance with justice and equity, rather than by force. We have created effective machinery for the purpose and we have demonstrated our willingness to have full recourse to that method.

"Peace reigns among us because we have recognized the principle that only through vigorous and mutually beneficial international economic relations can each of us have adequate access to materials and opportunities necessary to a rising level of economic well-being for our peoples. In every practicable way we are seeking to bring this vital principle to its realization . . .

"In my conception, the whole world now is struggling to find the basis of its life in coming centuries.

HATE DOOMS HATERS

"I affirm that that life must be based on positive values.

"The value of love will always be stronger than the value of hate; since any nation or group of nations which employs hatred eventually is torn to pieces by hatred within itself.

"The value of a belief in humanity and justice is always stronger than the value of belief in force; because force at last turns inward and if that occurs each man or group of men is finally compelled to measure his strength against his own brother.

"The value of truth and sincerity is always stronger than the value of lies and cynicism. No process has yet been invented which can permanently separate men from their hearts and consciences, or can prevent them from seeing the results of their ideas as time rolls by.

"You cannot make men believe that a way of life is good when it spreads poverty, misery, disease and death. Men cannot be everlastingly loyal unless they are free.

"We acclaim today the symbol of 50 years of the American way. We are determined to continue on that way of freidship. We are determined that our mutual relations be built upon honor and good faith.

"We are determined to live in peace and to make that peace secure. We are determined to follow the path of free peoples to a civilization worthy of free men."

National Guard Seeks Recruits

Declaring the European war has no bearing on the new enlistment period, Adjt.-Gen. Edgar C. Erickson today announced young men have until May 15 to join the Massachusetts National Guard.

"The federal government has given us authority to bring our National Guard up to normal full strength," he said.

"Since thela at recruiting drive, a normal number of vacancies has occurred. Applicants accepted may choose the branch of service they prefer.

"Enlistment details are on hand at all the State's 50 armories and also at Room 265, State House."

HENRY — One of Life's Big Disappointments

Warship Safe From Air, Navy Men Hold

WASHINGTON, April 15 (INS)—The admirals today were to offer their first "proof" of a claim they have been advancing for 20 years—that a battleship is practically unsinkable by aerial bombs.

Chairman Walsh of the Senate Naval committee has summoned scene of them to testify concerning lessons to be drawn from the sea battles between a superior British fleet supported by an inferior air force and a weak German fleet backed by a powerful air-arm.

The chief of naval operations, Admiral Harold R. Stark, will be the Navy's principal witness. He is expected to cite the experience of the British battleship Rodney in proof that the air bomber has not dethroned this type of warship from the dominance of the sea.

A statement by the British Admiralty's First Lord, Winston Churchill, asserts that the Rodney's armored decks during last week's fighting withstood the impacts of several of the "heaviest" German bombs with negligible casualties among personnel.

The deduction of the navy high command from Churchill's announcement is that the bombs burst upon contact wasting their explosive force upon and above the deck instead of detonating among the magazines inside, as a shell might have done.

If the German aerial attack was thus withstood, and the admirals say there is no reason to doubt Churchill's word that it was, they think the Rodney is the floating refutation of the claim that funds spent on battleships is money squandered.

Were the battleships such easy prey, the committee will be told, Hitler would long ago have launched waves of bombers over the North Sea and sunk them, thus smashing the blockade which is slowly starving Germany.

Navy officers indicated Stark's testimony will on no way belittle airplanes as a war implement. The $655,000,000 Naval Authorization Bill, on which he will testify, allows funds for 1000 naval aircraft.

Fall River Elks To Honor Chief

FALL RIVER, April 15—To honor his 40 years' service in the police department, Chief Abel J. Violette will be feted tonight by Fall River Elks at a testimonial banquet.

As guest speaker, the committee has chosen former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly, a member of Boston Lodge of Elks, now a Fall River Finance Commissioner and a moving power in 1939 in obtaining policemen here one day off in six. Many other cities followed the plan.

Chief Violette rose from patrolman and has been chief for many years.

Child Care Vital Now Says Msgr. Quinlan

Careful rearing of children in these chaotic times should be the primary concern of parents, it was declared by Msgr. Richard J. Quinlan, diocesan director of parochial schools, in an address to 2000 men and women at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross.

Msgr. Quinlan was the speaker at an annual meeting of the Legionnaires of Mary of the Boston archdiocese.

"Good example is the most sterling method of teaching the young how to lead a good and clean life," he said.

"It is up to adults to save the children from the temptations of this chaotic world, which has reached its present condition because of neglect of the teachings of the Creator.

"Adults should make it their life work to inspire and teach the young how to live correctly and thus protect them from the evils of today's existence."

4 BOYS VIE FOR LEGION AWARD

Eager to win a $4000 scholarship at the college of their choice, four youths from 16 to 18 years of age arrived here today for the finals of the third annual American Legion oratorical contest to be decided tonight in historic Faneuil Hall.

The four boys, winners over 100,000 youthful contestants on subjects of good citizenship and Americanization, will vie for the scholarship award offered by Comedian Eddie Cantor.

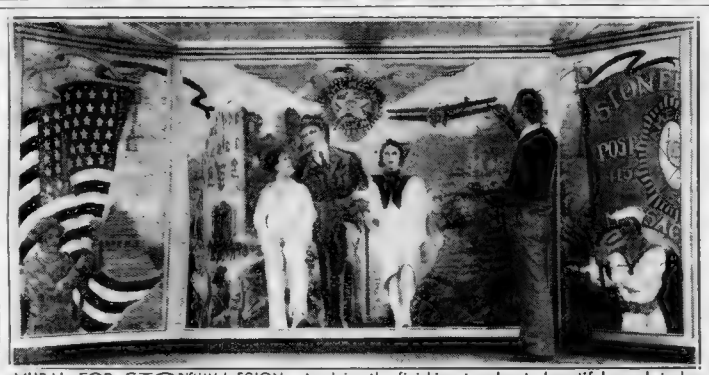
They are Thomas E. Haggerty, 18, of Rosedale, N. Y.; Clarence Carlson, 17, of Pontiac, Mich.; Hugh L. Overby, 16, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Joseph L. Minihan, 17, of Casper, Wyo

The boys will give a 10 to 12-minute oration on government and then will be asked to speak for five to six minutes on some of the 36 paragraphs in the Constitution.

The judges, all nationally known, are not to be announced until after the winner has been named. They will not sit together and compare notes, but will simply hand in their choice on completion of the orations.

Tickets, which are free, were gone a week ago and a capacity crowd of more than 1100 is expected to attend.

Tomorrow, the four boys will be guests of Mayor Tobin and be taken on a tour of the city's historic spots.



MURAL FOR STONEHAM LEGION—Applying the finishing touches to beautiful mural, to be dedicated at American Legion Headquarters, Stoneham, April 18, is Artist Rufus Rock of Stoneham. Dedication will precede open house at the Legion post, which will be held on Patriots' Day.

Economy Ousts Malden Chief

Reasons of economy were given by Fire Comr. Lorimer West for dismissal of Malden's fire chief, William J. Dooling from a $3340 post he has held for the last seven years.

West was appointed commissioner only three weeks ago by Mayor William A. Hastings.

Dooling retained former Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward J. Bushnell as counsell and announced he would fight the case. The city, in 1916, voted a permanent tenure of office for the chief of the fire department. No action by any branch of the city government has been taken to modify or change that rule, Dooling contends.

VITAMIN B1 GROWS 5 INCH ROSES

DAFFODILS BIGGER THAN PLATES

GROWS GARDENIA PLANT FROM CORSAGE

REPORTS "Better Homes & Gardens" MAGAZINE

It sounds like a fish story, or perhaps, better still a fairy tale, when you read that Vitamin B-1 produced five-inch rose buds, daffodils as big as plates and dahlias twelve feet high. Many users of Vitamin B-1 even reported that sickly, half dead, indoor and outdoor plants burst into bloom after a few applications of Vitamin B-1. It sounds even more fantastic, when you read that a woman in California grew with Vitamin B-1 a gardenia plant from a bud she plucked off a corsage. Yet, all of these amazing stories were actually reported in detail in February issue of Better Homes and Gardens magazine.

A man in Washington, D. C., reports climbing a step-ladder to cut 10-inch dahlia blossoms off stalks 12 feet high!

Here is what experimenters at the California Institute of Technology reported after a series of tests of Vitamin B-1's effects on various plants. 1—Vitamin B-1 produced larger, healthier plants with bigger flowers. 2—Vitamin B-1 stimulated growth. 3—Vitamin B-1 reinvigorated sick and straggly plants. 4—Vitamin B-1 helped seedlings to grow faster. 5—Vitamin B-1 made it possible to transplant house plants, trees and shrubs with very little set-back in time. 6—Vitamin B-1 stimulated the bloom of many plants that previously had refused to bloom. Further tests have proven that Vitamin B-1 aids in root cutting by stimulating growth. Some people soaked their seeds in a Vitamin B-1 solution before planting, because the first tiny roots reached the Vitamin on the outside of the seed and were stimulated toward healthier growth.

The easy way for you to use Vitamin B-1 on your plants and flowers is to get the 2-oz. bottle of B-Flora VITAMIN B-1 SOLUTION for only 49c at your nearest Nature Food Centres store. This 2-oz. bottle will vitaminize 500 gallons of water. With the vitaminized water you merely sprinkle your plants in the usual way. NAZIS CLAIM TWO MORE SUBS SUNK

BERLIN, April 15 (AP) Germany today announced two more allied submarines had been sunk in the Skagerrak, a Norwegian torpedo-boat captured, and a German merchantship sunk by British air raiders at Bergen.

Establishment of a strong British naval blockade of Narvik, important northern Norwegian ore port, also was acknowledged by the Germans who said their southern forces had "crushed" Norway's attempt to mobilize in the Oslo region.

The high command, in a communique, declared the two new submarines raised to seven the losses of allied undersea craft in recent days.

Two British air raiders who sank a German merchantship at Bergen subsequently were shot down, the communique declared.

CAPTURE NORSE SHIP

Shedding only scant light on Germany's land operations in Norway, the communique reported capture of Honfoss in the Oslo area and said Norwegian efforts to mobilize had been "crushed" in that region.

The captured Norwegian torpedo boat Hval will be put into service with a German crew, the announcement stated, reporting quiet on the western front, but that two British planes were shot down.

"Additional troop reinforcements and materials of all kinds reached the southern Norwegian region April 14, conditions thus were further strengthened and consolidated.

No noteworthy enemy actions from the sea occurred in this region.

"The day passed quietly at Narvik. Strong English naval forces blocked the entrance to Narvik port.

"Two British fighting planes bombed and sunk a German merchantship at Bergen. Shortly thereafter both planes were shot down by German pursuit planes. The day passed quietly in the regions of Stavanger and Kristiansand.

NAZIS CAPTURE SUPPLIES

"Two Vickers Wellington (British) planes were shot down by Messerschmitt (German) chasers during an unsuccessful British air raid April 13.

"German troops took Honfoss in the Oslo region. It can be stated that the attempt at Norwegian mobilization has been crushed in the Oslo region. Large quantities of war material fell into German hands with small losses of our own.

"Our forces operating in the Skagerrak destroyed two additional enemy submarines, thus the number of enemy U-boats sunk in recent days by the naval and air force increases to seven.

"The Norwegian torpedoboat Hval was taken. It will be put to service with a German crew.

"Units of the air force April 14 reconnoitered the North sea and the entire Norwegian coast.

"No special events in the west. The air force made border patrol flights. A German chaser shot down a British plane of the Blenheim type in the region of Emmerich. Another British plane was fired on by anti-aircraft and crashed north of Offenburg."

Norse King Outlawed By Nazis

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, April 15—Nazi Germany today outlawed King Haakon of Norway as a "vassal of England," predicted early Italian participation in the war and threatened devastating aerial attacks upon the British Isles.

In a series of press and official pronouncements, which included a hint of some spectacular move by Spain, the Reich forecast that Britain would suffer for encouraging Norway to resistance.

Now that Norway has been occupied, the newspaper Hachtausgame said, Germany has gained immense advantages for air force operations against Britain

HINT ITALY TO JOIN

Possibility of Italian participation was based on a broadcast by Giovanni Ansaldo, editor of the newspaper Telegrafo of Rome and a close adviser of Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano.

In his speech, heavily featured by the Berlin press, Ansaldo said that Italian involvement was a matter of days or weeks and that "the bugles will sound soon."

Possibility of Spanish action was based upon what the German press described as an "extraordinary midnight meeting of the war council in Madrid."

Germany and King Haakon parted company after the Reich failed to convert the monarch to the German cause in Scandinavia.

This became obvious when German newspapers publicly accused the King of conspiring with Great Britain to hand Norway over to that country without resistance.

BREAK WITH KING

It was admitted officially that all contact between Haakon and Germany has been broken off. German authorities at Oslo, the German-occupied Norwegian capital, are now dealing with the pro-German Norwegian regime headed by Premier Vidkun Quisling.

As the situation appeared in Berlin, it could be assumed that while the Reich is not disavowing the Norwegian monarch officially for the time being, his proclamation to the Norwegian people and that issued by the German commander, Gen. Von Falkenhorst, have signalled an open rift which will render it impossible for Haakon to return to his throne as long as the German occupation lasts.

U. S. Freighter Leaves Norway

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—The Moore-McCormack Line offices were notified by radio today that their 4955-ton freighter Mormacsea had sailed from Trondheim, Norway, and was now safely out of Norwegian waters, en route home.

The line immediately notified the relatives of Capt. W. A. McHale, the ship's master, and the 38 other officers and men on board. The vessel is expected to reach New York in about 12 days.

The Mormacsea was one of three American ships in Norwegian ports when the war shifted to Scandinavia. Capt. McHale informed the owner Friday that the German authorities controlling the port were willing to let him sail on his own responsibility.

The State Department at Washington denied the line permission to bring back American refugees on the ship, which had been at Trondheim since April 6.

The Moore-McCormack freighter Flying Fish is still at Bergen, Norway, and the line said nothing had been heard from her.

Another American ship, the Charles R. McCormick, of the McCormick Steamship Co., arrived in Bergen April 8 and is still there.

BRITISH SHIP SINKS

SANTA FE, Argentina, April 15 (AP)—The British freighter Joyous 3585 tons, bound for Buenos Aires with a load of grain, sank today in the Parana river after colliding with the Argentine tanker Ingeniero Luis A. Huergo, 3327 tons.

"the moment which will be most opportune." A moment described as "much nearer than is believed."

"Mistaken and deluding themselves are all those Italians who think Italy can shut up within herself and not think of other things. This program did not work for a small country like Norway," he said.

Consider yourselves if it can succeed for us who border on the belligerent countries and have interests in the Mediterranean."

The newspaper Il Messaggero warned neutrals that now they know what course they must follow, implying it was the path taken by Denmark in submitting to German "protection."

Germans Capture 300 Norsemen, 7 Cannon

BERLIN, April 15 (AP)—DNB, official German news agency, reported today that German forces in Norway had captured 300 prisoners, seven cannon and a quantity of small arms and ammunition southeast of Oslo.

If Your Ankles Swell You Can't Feel Well

Do your ankles swell, or are you tired and worn out a lot of the time with dark circles under your eyes? If the cause may be functional rather than organic or systemic Kidney trouble, The Kidneys work night and day cleaning and filtering excess acids, poisons and wastes from your blood. Because they never get a rest it's easy to see that as you grow older the Kidneys may get tired functionally and slow down. Then excess acids and wastes may cause backache or nervousness, due to non-organic or non-systemic Kidney or Bladder troubles, you'll make no mistake in trying the prescription called Cystex. Because it has been so successful in so high a percentage of such cases, Cystex is sold under a positive guarantee of money back on return of empty package unless completely satisfactory to you. Cystex now costs only 35c at druggists and the guarantee protects you.

French, Nazi Sorties Fail on West Front

PARIS, April 15 (AP) — French and German thrusts into the other's lines during the past 24 hours ended today with both back in their old positions.

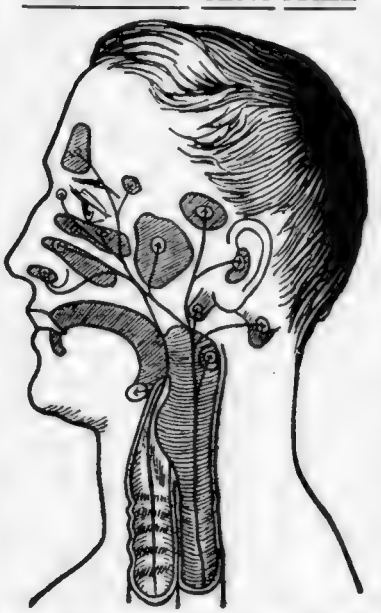
The French said that on the Alsatian sector they succeeded in opening a hole in German entanglements for a brief clash, after which they withdrew, leaving casualties inflicted on the German forces.

West of the Vosges mountains the Germans attempted a raid, but were repulsed by machine guns, the high command said.

CATARRH DISCOVERY

New Four-Fold Method Attacks Catarrhal Symptoms 4 Ways to Bring Quick, Blessed Relief

PAMPHLET SENT FREE



The shaded portions of this diagram show the "air spaces" of the head. Catarrh collects in many of these spaces and causes the disagreeable Catarrhal symptoms.

Here is a grand Free Offer that no reader of this paper suffering the disagreeable, annoying symptoms of Nasal Catarrh and Congestion can afford to ignore. It may open the pathway to your own prompt and gloriously welcome relief from the catarrhal evils you know so well, just as it has done and is doing for a host of others who have suffered from:

Nasal Catarrh, Clogged Nostrils, Difficult Breathing, Hawking, Blowing, Snuffing, Mucous Discharge, Dulled Hearing— Caused by Nasal Congestion

SATISFACTION OR NO CHARGE

Have you a "Catarrhal" Cough, Clogged Nostrils, Phlegm-Filled Throat? Do you have head noises, or a buzzing or ringing in your ears? Is your hearing growing dull? Does your nose feel "stuffed up" or are you continually obliged to snuffle, spit, hawk and clear your throat? Is breathing through the nose often difficult? Have you frontal headaches? Do you catch cold easily and is there a constant mucous discharge that makes frequent nose blowing an embarrassing necessity? Have you an offensive catarrhal breath? These are some of the common, easily noted symptoms that may be caused by Nasal Catarrh, so prevalent in this region and it may pay you to check them carefully.

If any of these symptoms are yours, this notice must surely interest you and cause you to write at once for 4-way pamphlet. It is free for the asking.

A successful London Bacteriologist has succeeded in distilling entirely new forms of germicides that, used in combination with other elements of recognized merit, seem to quickly clear accessible catarrhal accumulations right out of the head, throat and nasal passages.

This New Four-Fold Method goes after Catarrhal Symptoms in four different ways instead of one, and so has brought effective results that have already given joy and blessed relief to thousands.

A NEW JOY OF LIVING

Only a sufferer from catarrhal conditions such as noted above can fully appreciate how great would be the joy if all these symptoms were quickly and thoroughly cleared away. Here is your chance to learn about and try for yourself this highly successful method, developed and approved in England and now being introduced throughout America on "Satisfaction or No Charge" terms, which makes its trial by any Catarrhal sufferer an easy matter. It costs nothing to find out about it beyond postage of your inquiry, and if you have Catarrh trouble, by all means write at once to the Heather Company, Dept. 25-K, Adams, N. Y., for PAMPHLET, with full particulars and directions. It does not obligate you to spend one penny for treatment. Do this at once while you are thinking about it, for there is no assurance that this Offer and Announcement will ever be repeated in this paper. So before you forget it, or lose the address—

NEW SHOWS AT COCOANUT GROVE AND CAPPY'S

Calloway at Southland

By SAM BERENSON

These sentimental scenes which occasionally are pulled off in a night club become, we find, a little more palatable if taken with a few grains of salt . . . according to theatrical tradition, one must sing, tho the heart which beats beneath the vest is as cracked as the April ice on the Frog Pond . . . and by the same token, we notice that the public figure can turn on floods of tears when the audience demands it, even though he has just hit the Daily Double at Bowie.

Therefore the memory of that incident at the Cocoanut Grove last week still tugs at our heartstrings . . . the tears were real, and the sentiment deep and genuine, touching everyone present.

Well, it was only a birthday announcement. Mickey Alpert has had birthdays before and he'll have 'em again . . . but we were sitting at a table with Katherine Rand when the clock struck twelve; and we heard the announcement and we heard the sincere cheer of the patrons and we watched the gals and members of the Grove show besiege Mickey with kisses and handclasps . . . but it was when we saw the tears in Katherine's eyes that we felt that this demonstration of affection meant more to her than to anyone else present.

PAT ROONEY
At Latin Quarter

Because Katherine and Mickey have worked together and gone together now for seven years, and soon they're to be married . . . and we, too, could look back to the earlier Mickey Alpert, the wisecracking, not - always - agreeable Mickey, and appreciate the change and progress with the years . . . once he was just another band-boss with just another band; but the Mickey who crossed the floor that night to kiss Katherine was a famed musician following a rising star . . . ere long, they'll be Mr. and Mrs. . . . and to them, our best wishes.

Pat Rooney comes into town tonight to make the Monday debut of the Latin Quarter's new show titled "Gay Nineties," one of the fancier of the Rialto's events . . . Pat's dancing feet have written for him in the last 30 years a far more glamorous chapter than we can pen in our wash-day column . . . so we say simply that it's Pat Rooney, the Latin Quarter, and one of the season's best offerings.

The Calloway Hi-Di-Ho is definitely a potent lure along the Hub's White Way, and resultantly dear old Southland is a-pack, jammed full . . . make no mistake about it, this Calloway rhythm is as up-to-the-minute as a robin's song . . . one of the gayest, fastest, swingiest groups in the down-beat trade . . . plus, to be sure, a typical torrid sepia floor revue. . .

The smart Mayfair club this week brightens the Rialto with the grand fun-making of Joe E. Lewis . . . a very capable comic, certain to keep this spot in an uproar . . . Jerry & Turk, a clever pair of dancers, and other Broadway favorites complete a gala bill . . . popular stick-swisher, Ranny Weeks, once more on the Mayfair podium . . . The suave Fox & Hounds a definite click with the gadabout set . . . here's one of the town's most important gathering places . . . with that romantic atmosphere that packs so much appeal to the top-hatters . . . Lew Bonick's music. . .

Breaking all known records for attendance at Jack Brown's Casa Manana, Louie Prima, the gentleman with the torrid trumpet stays over at this rhythm spot . . . this band is tops and we recommend that you bend an ear to such tune-spinning before Louie leaves town . . . Blinstrub's Village just goes on serving up some of the town's gayest talent offerings . . . featured this week are Kay Kollette, Doris Deane, Two Kayes, Lolita Moya and Boyd Heathen . . . More than 5000 guests including many of the leading State and City officials will attend the testimonial dinner held at the Boston Garden, Wednesday evening, for Senator Joe Langone . . . A good takein is the Mansion Inn at Cochituate . . . pleasant atmosphere, excellent food and moderate prices prevail . . . Joe Rubin's dancing school prospering mightily.

The Grill room of the Hotel Essex remains among the most popular of our after-dark parlors . . . a sparkling floor revue this week with honors going to Carlotta Gray . . . Adrian O'Brien continues on at the Steuben Vienna room . . . Manager Jack Chan of Ruby Foo's Den reports record business . . . Cappy's rendezvous at No. Easton getting a nice play from those who like the country atmosphere . . . good entertainment and dance music and a right "tick" . . . Howard Jacob's musicing at the Weber Duck Inn at Wrentham meriting nice comment.

PAIGE AND PARKER
At the Westminster

Kitty Brando's, with a top-notch floor show and the merry music-making of Joe Candullo, justly rates a bold spot on your visiting list . . . Kitty's policy of headline talent and delightful atmosphere has made this brilliant local oasis a topnotcher among local clubs . . . make a date with this merry rendezvous for a banner evening's entertainment . . . The Blue Room at the Westminister ushers in another of its spendid variety shows tonight . . . wherein starry talent combine with the first-rate Pied Piping of Jimmy McHale to give Rialto roamers a merry revue indeed . . . Another sparkling new show this week for Ribby's.

The Old Fashioned Cafe in downtown Boston tosses another of its merry entertainment programs this week . . . setting the fast pace that marks all the offerings at this swift-tempo'd oasis . . . Staying longer than any other, Sally Keith will continue to toss the "tassels" at the Crawford House . . . other star acts open this week . . . Sizzling action keynotes Joe Wagenbach's latest, the tempting variety dish that makes its debut tonight at the Lawrence Hofbrau . . . Joe has gathered unto his oasis many an accomplished entertainer, and this, with the precision of his revues, sets this calling place up as a standout for the week . . .

Izzy "Lamour" Ort continues with plans for his "Tropical" Room at his bustling Grill . . . Izzy swears he will wear no sarong, but in all other respects he foresees his upstairs parlor packing in all the color and romance of the South Seas.

'Must Avoid War,' Fr. Couglin Warning

DETROIT, April 15 (AP)—Americans were urged by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin to "exert every influence in private and in public" to keep the United States out of the European war.

"We can stay out, we must stay out," he said in his regular Sunday broadcast. "Keep our money out of it and we can keep our men out of it."

In his opinion, he said, the present conflict is "a war between modern capitalism and anti-capitalism, neither of which systems operate for the benefit of the peoples of the world."

The Royal Oak, Mich., priest said there were "reports" a British mission was now in this country actively engaged in securing credit to carry on the war.

"The hoard of wealth in the vaults of our banks magnetizes them," he declared, and asked:

"Shall cash-and-carry become credit-and-carry, thereby engaging us in the first inevitable step which leads to actual war?"

Turning to a discussion of the nation's financial structure, Fr. Coughlin asserted it was responsible for "the concentration of wealth in the hands of the few."

"We Americans who enjoy political liberty will acquire economic liberty without which the former is but an idle dream," he said.

Hub to Get Junior C. of C. Convention

Boston was announced today as next year's convention city of the Massachusetts Junior Chamber of Commerce following the windup of the annual convention held at Springfield.

Frank Wardwell of Boston was elected president, defeating James P. Hickey, Jr., of Brookline. Other officers elected were Leo Minihan of Brookline, vice-president of eastern Massachusetts; James Mannix of Holyoke, vice-president for the western section; Thomas Roberts of Springfield, treasurer, and Braiford O. Parker of Springfield, secretary.

BEAUTY—With nine other beautiful hostesses, Gloria Humphreys (above) will officiate at the annual Newspaper Frolic and dinner of the Boston Newspapermen's Benevolent Association at the Copley-Plaza, April 24.

Newsmen's Frolic April 24

A bigger and better show than ever is promised for the seventh annual newspaper frolic and dinner to be held in aid of the relief fund of the Boston Newspapermen's Benevolent Association Wednesday night, April 24, at the Copley-Plaza.

According to an announcement from the association's headquarters at the Copley-Plaza, the program will include the cream of the talent from the Cocoanut Grove, Mayfair, Latin Quarter and Kitty Brando's night clubs, Keith's Boston and other theaters.

There will be a fashion review featured by the newest creations in women's bathing attire, presented by Wethern's of Temple pl., and a novelty act by Dot Slamin, world's champion drum majorette of Waltham. Last, but not least, will be the famous Fountain of Youth and music by the Maraharda, with dancing until the small hours.

Fitchburg Group Will Open June 24

The Guy Palmerton Players will open their seventh season of Broadway stage successes at popular prices at Fitchburg on Monday evening, June 24. Guest stars will appear with the resident Equity company from time to time.

At present, the young producer is presenting a drama festival in Portland, Me., at the Civic Theater, which will continue throughout the summer. He will operate this company in addition to the regular season at Lake Whalom.

Lewis 3d Party Talk Bewilders Politicos

WASHINGTON, April 15—John L. Lewis still has many politicians puzzling over his threats to break away from the Democratic party.

They haven't been able to figure just what he expects to gain in 1940 or what his aspirations for the future may be. And Lewis has said just enough to bewilder; not enough to enlighten. He has not said that he intended to start a third party. He has only hinted that he might.

None of those close enough to know the facts doubts that there has been a deep and violent break between President Roosevelt and Lewis. Insiders say there is little likelihood that it will be repaired.

One indication of the depth of this break is the wide political terrain over which CIO feelers are spreading. Signs of these have shown up in places which Lewis has professed to abhor in the past.

Measured by the practicalities of the situation, it would appear that Lewis and the CIO have little to hope for from the Republicans. He and his organization have been democratic allies. They have occupied ground to the left of the Democratic homestead. The Republicans are generally thought of as holdering a spot to the right of the Democrats.

Some indications have been found which hint that the big CIO efforts in 1940 may be directed toward picking up strategic House seats under the banner of either party that seems most feasible.

Given a nucleus of House members able and properly placed, the brakes could be applied swiftly to any legislation to change the present labor set-up.

Whatever else Lewis may have in mind is pretty well hidden. A few have figured that he has his eyes on 1944 and that any third party move he may make will be toward that end.

He must be fully aware of the difficulties in the way of any third party movement and the fact that more work is involved than simply naming a ticket.

But Lewis already has a huge campaign fund which he could turn if to the coffers of an ally. It came from a special assessment laid upon CIO members. Some say it far exceeds the $500,000 he chipped in for th Democrats in 1936.

Sen. King Hits Nazis, Brita in on Jew Ban

Both Nazi Germany and Great Britain were scored by speakers, headed by Utah's Senator William H. King, who addressed the New England Conference of the United Palestine Appeal at Hotel Statler.

Senator King accused the Hitler regime of making a mockery of neutrality in Europe and assailed Great Britain for its Palestine policy in dealing with Jews.

The propaganda against democracy did not begin with the second World War, Senator King asserted, but in 1933, when a regime frantically sworn to uproot democracy and freedom in all of Europe gained control of the government in Germany.

Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, Cleveland Rabbi and national chairman of the United States Palestine Appeal, who left a sick bed to attend the conference here, declared that for seven years the Jews have been fighting a war against Hitlerism, "a war in which they have recently been joined by the allies.

He described Great Britain's recent "White Paper" on Palestine as "a colossal blunder on the part of British political leaders who have been committing grave blunders to the great hurt of themselves and the world."

"However, Great Britain is at war with our common foe, the Nazi forces, and we must do nothing to embarrass her."

House Battle Looms On Logan-Walter Bill

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The controversial Logan-Walter bill to standardize procedure of federal agencies claimed House attention today, starting a busy week which will be climaxed with debate over wage-hour amendments.

The Logan-Walter bill would authorize review by the courts of decisions of the government's 100 administrative agencies and would make uniform their regulations and orders.

The fight over its enactment centers on opponents' charges that the legislation would impair the efficiency of some quasi-judicial divisions. Rep. Walter (D.) of Pennsylvania, the House sponsor, said in reply:

"We are not trying to hamstring anybody. All that the bill would do would require these agencies to follow certain general, reasonable yardsticks.

"Of course, that might result in curbing occasional abuses of the discretionary power that Congress has to vest in them.

"It can never be admitted in this country that the administrative bureaucrats shall control the legislative and judicial branches of this government.

"This may be considered as a warning to those who are more intent on securing and exercising greater autocratic powers in the administration of the laws than the Congress has conferred upon them."

The bill has passed the Senate in a different form. It was originated last year by the late Senator Logan (D.) of Kentucky, but one section requiring federal agencies to adopt common court procedure was eliminated. President Roosevelt recently told reporters that such a requirement would have delayed government business.

The Senate is devoting the week to secondary legislation, but the House gradually is reaching some of the most heated issues of the session. Its consideration late this week of three sets of proposed changes in the wage-hour law will be a prelude to a major battle over revising the Wagner Labor Act.

In general, the amendments would exempt "white collar" workers earning at least $150 or $200 a month from the law's standards, which at present call for a maximum work week of 42 hours and a minimum wage of 30 cents an hour.

Explains Cause Of Stomach Ulcer Pains

In simple language, the cause of most acid stomach ulcer pains is the passage of food through the stomach, irritating the exposed nerves on the sensitive surfaces, thus frequently causing burning, tearing or dull aching pains. Udga Tablets contain bismuth, which medical science has found coats and protects the sensitive parts, also other valuable ingredients in a balanced formula. They have been praised by thousands. Try a 25c box of Udga for relief of ulcer and stomach pains, indigestion, gas pains, for heartburn, burning sensation, bloat and other conditions caused by excess acid. Udga Tablets are safe to use and must help or your money refunded. At good drug stores everywhere.

State Labor Fights Biennial Sessions

BROCKTON, April 15—Labor today was behind a fight for repeal of the biennial sessions of the Legislature following the annual regional conference of the State Federation of Labor here.

Plans to place the question of repeal on the ballot in 1944 were outlined at the conference by Kenneth I. Taylor, legislative agent and secretary of the Federation. He said it would require five years to change the Constitution back to annual legislative sessions.

MISS AND MRS. AMERICA, unlike Miss and Mrs. Europe, are united in a military campaign no one will ever criticize or condemn.

More than 135,000 in number and representing 47 States and the District of Columbia, these women are opposing one of humanity's oldest and most vicious enemies as they press forward on all fronts under the proud banner of the Women's Field Army Against Cancer.

DR. MINOT
Tells How to Guard Against Cancer

Their weapons are not bombs, swords, rifles or poison gas. Their only implement of combat is EDUCATION and the obstacle they strive most relentlessly to overcome is FEAR.

Every day, in every city and town of the land, the Field Army attempts to dispel the black clouds of ignorance and despair with the hopeful information that cancer, IF TREATED IN ITS EARLY STAGES, is very frequently CURABLE.

Competent medical authority supports this statement. Among many other reliable groups is the Tufts College Medical School, which, in a report released last year, said:

"With early diagnosis and timely treatment, cures are recorded in 95 per cent of skin cancers, 84 per cent of lip cancers, 75 per cent of breast cancers, and in high percentages of other deep-seated types of this dread disease."

The biggest handicap in the universal war on cancer and a principal cause of death is the false belief that a malignant tumor means the grave.

Because of this belief, thousands of men and women avoid doctors until pain drives them to hospitals. Then, much too often, the malady is found to have advanced beyond the cure stage.

The intelligent thing to do is to consult one's family physician the day he suspects cancer.

Wiser still would be periodic physical examinations for all persons over 40 years of age.

Caution of this kind would, as Dr. George R. Minot, director of the Thorndike Memorial Laboratory at Boston City Hospital, says, "do much to prevent deaths attributed to cancer."

A CELTIC DEPARTMENT is to be established in the very near future at Harvard University.

And Dr. Kenneth H. Jackson, lecturer in Celtic at the University of Cambridge, England, will come here to teach.

This worthy memorial to Irish literature and culture is going to fill a long-felt need at the institution on the Charles.

Centuries ago, when wars overwhelmed the entire European continent, forcing large sections of the population back into a condition bordering on savagery, the little country of Ireland cherished and kept alive the feeble flame of knowledge.

Today, with a large part of the European continent again in arms, it is most fitting to pay tribute to wise people who treasured learning once and who seem destined to do it a second time.

AMERICAN GIRLS are superior in many ways to young women in the countries of Europe. We have said this on numerous occasions in the past. It pleases us now to cite illustrious confirmation.

IRINA BARONOVA
"Your Girls Have Nicer Faces"

No less an authority than Irina Baronova, famous ballerina, here as guest of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, says:

"Your girls in this country technically are much stronger than Europeans, have nicer faces, better figures and, above all, possess the spirit needed to make outstanding dancers."

Common sense says that a girl who has grown to womanhood in a free country with a high standard of living, liberal education, proper recreation and intelligent attention to health, ought to be physically and mentally ahead of the girl who has enjoyed few of these advantages in the backward nations of the Old World.

It is a pity that this important fact is not more generally recognized, particularly in the theater where actresses and performers from abroad frequently get the lion's share of favors while deserving and often more talented American girls are forced to take a back seat.

The Swimming Hole

REMEMBER the old swimming hole, that willow-haunted spot . . . 'Twas always cool and shady there, though elsewhere blazing hot . . . Remember how you shivered and the chills ran down your spine . . . when the other fellers hollered, "Come on in, the water's fine?" . . .

Remember how those Satan's imps chaw-baited all your clothes . . . and how that small-town smartie stuck a crawfish in your toes? . . .

Remember when you came home wet, and Mother looked so funny . . . and said, with mocking severity, "So you've been swimming, Sonny"?

Well, you were storing up for leaner years to come . . . sunshine and health—and memories—of these a golden sum.

Unfortunate the city boys who have no place to play . . . save on the streets where always they will be in danger's way . . .

Happy indeed the small-town boy, who, as years take their toll . . . still cherishes the memories of the old swimming hole.

IN PENNSYLVANIA a "job mobilization" campaign to increase employment is making some progress. Six years ago I started suggesting such a drive against unemployment and kept repeating the suggestion until I overheard a fellow say: "Sure, you know Durling, that guy who writes about nothing but Brooklyn, his dog, his breakfast and unemployment drives." Anyway, it was a good idea.

SING 80 times daily and you'll be happy, says Music Educator Kenneth Hjelmervik and he suggests the following schedule.

1—Rising—How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning.

2—Shaving—Aria from Barber of Seville.

3—Breakfast—Smiles.

4—Cooking and Washing Dishes—I Love You.

5—At business—Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag.

6—Dinner—All the Things You Are.

7—After Dinner — Good-Night Sweetheart.

8—Retiring—The End of a Perfect Day.

The general idea of the above is all right but the song selections need a little going over. For rising I would substitute "Bed, Beautiful Bed."

Shaving and showering songs should be changed daily and be something you can make a noise with such as "I Like to Ride the 'Orses on the Merry-Go-Round."

SOUTH AMERICAN WAY IS THE WAY TO DANCE
Rumba and Conga Replace Swing and Jitterbugs

At dinner the family should rise and sing to Papa, "Little Man You've Had a Busy Day." And Papa should answer by singing "Home, Home on the Range."

HOW IS IT when you are invited to dinner you never are served corned beef and cabbage? Will those of us who love and respect this grand old dish ever see the day it achieves social recognition?

"YOUNG FELLOW," I said to my pup as he was straining at his leash to go after some birds on the other side of the automobile highway, "I hate to hold you back this way, but next fall I am going to take you down to the eastern shore of Maryland, where a dog can run wild and show you a good time." My pup stopped pulling on the leash; looked at me and wagged his tail. Sure he understood me. Remember the old Darkey's explanation of such a situation:

Ah can't talk dog, an' he can't talk man,
Yit Rover an' me we onderstand,
Ah wags mah tongue an' he wags 'is tail,
An' love explains whar grammar fails.

SWING IS FADING. Jitterbugs are becoming old fashioned. The South American Way is the way to dance now; the Rumba and the Conga. Fifty-six-year-old Lawyer and Publisher Orson D. Munn is said to be America's best amateur rumba dancer. I know a young woman who works as a pharmacist during the day and as a rumba and conga teacher at night. A curious combination of activities but she is a success at both.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

-:- -:- MY DAY

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., April 15—The trip from Kansas City, Mo., to Fort Smith, Ark., on Friday was not through the apple blossom country which we had heard so much about, but partly in mining country with earth tossed up in heaps of gravel on which a few trees and shrubs had taken root here and there.

Farming is going on in between the uplands, but the houses do not look very prosperous, many of them being entirely unpainted and more of them painted only in front.

The countryside did not, however, have the rows and rows of little company mining town houses.

AT ALMOST every station a few people, who had heard I was going through, had gathered and wanted to greet the President's wife.

At Joplin, Mo., they brought a group from the Crippled Children's School, and the railroad officials told me they were particularly active in caring for these youngsters and sending them for treatment to Kansas City and St. Louis.

In this work the Kansas City and Southern Railway cooperate, as do many other railroads, by carrying the patients free. At Sallisaw, Okla., near which there is a very old Indian school, a large group of Indians came to the train and presented me with a number of gifts.

GIFTS FROM INDIANS
Mrs. Roosevelt Thanks Donors

We travelled on a very special train which makes the trip in record time and hits the curves at such speed that you have no desire to move around a great deal. If you do, you are apt to find yourself sitting down somewhat unexpectedly.

On this trip, I read a pamphlet by Mr. Louis Fisher on development of the central European situation over the period of the past few years, and found it extremely interesting.

His long years as a foreign war correspondent have given him an understanding of the history of various countries and an opportunity for personal observation of the men who are at present making history in the world. This gives what he writes an added significance.

IT IS universally true, I fear, that under the pressure of necessity, ideals and standards which have been built up through years of effort may be wiped out over night.

This is why I think it is important in studying peoples to look not only at specific occurrences in their history, but to get the trend of their behavior.

We all fall below our best standards at times, but where nations are involved it is well to find out whether this means permanent changes in the people's character, or whether there is something inherent in some people which makes them fight back after temporary lapses from professed standards and again try to achieve the ideals which they have built up.

SHELDON DICK BARES MINING ILLS

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, April 15—A few months ago Sheldon Dick, of the Social Register, went to the Mid-West where, attired in laborer's clothes, he visited the mining sectors. Dick carried a movie-camera and photographed the camps, and the men who became victims of silicosis. He shot enough film to make a documentary movie called "Men in Dust"—all at his own expense . . . He showed the movie to Eleanor Roosevelt, who brought it to the attention of Frances Perkins—who, as a result, is calling a Silicosis Conference for April 23 and 24, to combat these conditions.

EMPLOYMENT DEPT.: Sheila Barrett, foremost of American mimic-caricaturists, visited Mon Paris, where Lou Schwartz, the manager, tried to induce her to work there . . "But I don't think I'll be able to draw people to this place,' Miss Barrett insisted, "Don't worry," Schwartz assured. "You'll get the right people here." . . . A ringsider then approached Sheila, and said: "Oh, I know you—you're Libby Holman. I want your autograph, Miss Holman" . . . Sheila turned to the manager, and sighed: "See what I mean? I won't work here, unless I can draw people who KNOW I'm not Libby Holman.'

MISS CARROLL

SCHOOL DEPT.: Two local colleges have selected Madelaine Carroll as their Feminine Ideal. Alfred Hitchcock, the director whose newest hit is "Rebecca," would register dissent, if the students had asked him . . . When Hitchcock came to America to direct "Titanic," and was asked: "Have you ever seen a real iceberg?" he said. "Of course. Don't forget—I discovered Madelaine Carroll."

* * *

LOCAL NEWS: Samuel Untermyer's Greystone estate, which was refused by the State of New York, will be offered to Westchester County . . . Ruby Black is writing a biography of Eleanor Roosevelt . . . Frank Henry, who was vice-president at J. B. Lippincott, is going into the book-publishing business on his own.

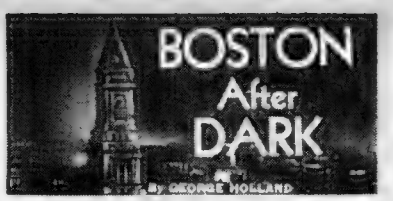
BOOK DEPT.: In front of the stalls outside the book-shop of P. Lewis and Company, on 23rd st., Lewis discovered a man weeping softly, and holding in his hand a copy of "The Strange Death of Adolf Hitler,' published last year at $2.50 and now being sold for 10 cents . . . "I guess those front-pages today indicate that Hitler isn't dead," said Lewis. "Too bad, but don't let it get you down" . . . "It's not that," the other replied. "I'm Clemont Wood. I wrote this book."



MONDAY MUSINGS: Two minutes of melody, tinkling out of the ether from a national hookup, meant that a dream had materialized for Mrs. Eva Golden of Hillside terrace, Brighton . . . Nineteen years ago, with her hearing almost gone and her eyesight greatly impaired, Mrs. Golden started writing songs as a hobby . . . Shortly after 9 o'clock last night, thousands of hours of work that the Brighton woman has devoted to her hobby were rewarded—to Mrs. Golden s satisfaction—when her song, "Get the Best Out of Life," was given its first coast-to-coast plug.

SONG-WRITING HAS NOT BEEN Mrs. Golden's only pre-occupation . . . She is the mother of a bright young son, Jack Golden, who has found time while getting an education to develop a hobby of his own, that of building model airplanes . . . Success in his avocation came more quickly to the son than to his mother . . . Because the lad is New England champion in the hobby of plane modelling . . . Mrs. Golden, therefore, had the joy of an industrious and good son to buoy her while she wrote lyric after lyric, tune after tune—in the quest for recognition in a Tin Pan Alley which is virtually impregnable to amateurs.

"GET THE BEST OUT OF LIFE" won a contract from Mills Music, the song publisher, after Mrs. Golden had sent out nearly 200 songs . . . And had them returned . . . This mass of composition was achieved in spite of the Brighton mother's serious physical handicaps . . . This unique example of a Boston woman "crashing" the songwriting game comes as a blow to this and other "viewers-with-alarm" who persist in advising that "it can't be done" . . . (It should be a lesson to us.)

YOUR CORRESPONDENT, HOWEVER, will stick to his guns . . . Tin Pan Alley has more mines than the Skaggerak . . . Songwriting as a hobby (as Mrs. Golden sanely took it up) is harmless—and can be fun . . . The trouble is that thousands and thousands of novices waste their money and time in a game where phoney "advisers," "collaborators," "teachers" and "schools" are making fortunes out of an undying crop of suckers . . . These poor dupes stake their earnings and hopes on success in a field which is flooded with talent.

OUR ADVICE will still be, with a marvelling salute to Mrs. Golden, that amateurs without relatives in the song business or among the Hollywood tycoons or the leading orchestra leaders, should try an easier profession . . . And, come to think of it, Mrs. Golden tried for nineteen years before she hit the jackpot.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Larry Funk's orchestra will play the Boston College Junior Prom, May 3 . . . A few years ago, the name of Funk was a magic name in the Boston district . . . Larry and his crew held forth at the old Barclay Club at Falmouth and at the Cocoanut Grove for several seasons . . . The slim young

MARLENE OFFERED CORNELL ROLE

By Louella O. Parsons

Marlene Dietrich

HOLLYWOOD, April 15—Hotter than the Hollywood weather over the week-end is the deal for Marlene Dietrich to play the Katharine Cornell role in the movie version of "No Time for Comedy." For two hours Marlene was on the Warner lot going over the script with Hal Wallis, and it s dollars to doughnuts she'll put her name on the dotted line for she likes the comedy angle and the chance to wear gorgeous clothes in the role of the glamorous actress.

Originally, "No Time for Comedy" was bought for Bette Davis, but there are so many other vehicles waiting for Bette that Hal has decided to make the Cornell comedy with another star. And here is another little tidbit: Jimmy Stewart, who was with Dietrich in "Destry Rides Again" may be teamed with her in "No Time for Comedy" —at least, he was reading the script over the week-end.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Joan Crawford choo-choos to New York today and her first date is with Franchot Tone. Don't discount for a second the interest these two have in each other; the Don Ameche stork rumor is true and Mrs. A. has been in the hospital for observation; Kay Francis and Cornwall Jackson a dinner duet at the Florentine Gardens; Jimmie Cagney has gone into retirement on his yacht to lose 20 pounds before he begins "The City of Conquest."

She says she wants to raise $10,000 to help them.

MARY MAGUIRE, now happily married in London, goes into a legitimate show there. Her bridegroom, who has money, is reported as the angel of the show; Andrea Leeds and Bob Howard welcomed the bride and groom, the Lin Howards (Judith Barrett) home from their honeymoon with a cocktail party. Half of Hollywood was there to greet the newlyweds; Maureen O'Hara and Tom Neal flew to San Francisco to see Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier in "Romeo and Juliet."

TWO-MINUTE STORY

THE RAIN was coming down in torrents. Sylvia, standing alone on the corner waiting for a street car, was getting drenched. Sylvia was a pretty girl—and very romantic. She had many boy friends, but she always declared she had yet to meet the man of her dreams.

And now, as she stood in the downpour, soaked to the skin, she felt a tiny burning, warming sensation about her heart, and her eyes glowed brightly. For in her mind that day he had come. Her prince had arrived—silently, mysteriously—to claim her. He was tall, blond, and regally handsome. He was extremely wealthy and a marvelously-smooth dancer.

Sylvia's reveries were shattered by the dark, sleek car which had pulled to the curb. The door opened and a pleasant young man asked, "Can I take you anywhere, Miss?"

Ordinarily, Sylvia would not accept a ride from a stranger, but as the unabating rain had left her a soggy, uncomfortable mass, she decided to accept.

"WHERE TO, MISS?" This from the stranger as Sylvia entered the car. She gave her address, and said, "I'm glad you came along when you did. I was getting soaked."

"I make it a habit of coming along at the right time." The stranger smiled. Then Sylvia noticed how exceedingly handsome he was. He was tall, blondish, and he appeared to be rich as this was a pretty swanky car.

"Gee," Sylvia's heart beat fast. "He seems to have all the qualifications of my 'ideal' husband. I wonder if he's a good dancer."

They had almost reached her home. Sylvia was hoping frantically that the handsome stranger would ask to see her sometime.

SYLVIA STEPPED from the car, as did the stranger. She had her attack mapped out.

She said, "What do I owe you for this ride?" This would give him the opportunity to ask for a date.

"$2.45, Miss," he said.

"Wha-What!"

"$2.45, Miss. I know we charge higher rates than the other taxi companies, but after all you ride in a much better car."

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

SO YOU HATE your humdrum life—And you wish you could have been one of that rollicking crowd who rolled West in a covered wagon, or part of that tumultuous pageant that built the cities in its wake. Adventure, that's the dish you're hungering for, is it?

And you're quite sure you'd be infinitely kinder and gayer and more generous if you could run ruddy risks instead of doing commonplace chores.

Well, I was one of that "tumultuous pageant" you so envy. I know adventure. And I'm here to tell you that it isn't what you think.

Adventure doesn't mean a new horizon . . . a dangerous trail filled with yip-yipping Indians, whoop-whooping prospectors and mustachioed gamblers.

Adventure means simply—getting away from yourself.

THIS PICTURE you have of frontier life is the bunk and nothing else but.

If you wanted to go anywhere, you went, mostly, on your own hind legs, with blisters. No one had comforts.

And yet life flamed in the old wild West. It flamed because people had curiosity in their own hearts, and enthusiasm, and faith. It flamed because those tremendous skies—those infinite distances—were such a challenge that something rose in the heart of the smallest man and answered their mighty chant.

So we had adventure, though we had none of the makings you expect today. We had adventure because we were willing to GET OUTSIDE OF OURSELVES.

THE pickings were scanty but we grabbed what they were. Trival chores they were for the most part. Feebie risks. Scant merry-making.

But the invincible youth in us took each in its turn, going on and on—and before we knew it we were far enough away from our own private lives and peeves to be part of the drama of that far-flung fantasy we call the Old Wild West.

Where we had one glint of romance, you have a thousand. You can make of your life an Arabian Nights, an Enchanted Carpet to waft you into the Never Never Land. But the trouble with most of you is—YOU DON'T WANT TO PAY THE PRICE.

You want adventure to happen to you like the measles. You want somebody to come along and hand you boots, spurs and chaps—Spanish comb and mantilla—and maybe nail up a stage or import a horse for your special benefit.

Parrot Dance Tops Gayety Bill

You've heard of fans, bubbles, doves and now comes a parrot to share the strip-tease spotlight with a burlesque beauty, in this instance, Yvette Dare.

Marcia

Miss Dare, whose Dance of Beji was one of the super-sensations at last season's New York World's Fair, is billed as fitting-ly with her for the Gayety's current week's show a dance that is "the most unusual of the country."

Another attention-getter in the week's revue is Marcia, a handsome, sultry redhead who is reported to have some sulphurous schottisches in her kit-bag.

Other charmers in the current cast are Jean Wade, Ester Ray and the St. Clair Sisters. Topping the comedy division are Tommy Raft, Manny King, Al Golden, Jr., Jack Shaw, Stanley Simmons and Al Leonard.

On the screen will be "Music in My Heart."

CHARMAINE'S shimmy is the big treat for Globe audiences this week.

Charmaine Charms 'Em

Charming Charmaine, whose shimmy is something to write home about, continues to delight Globe audiences this week in the most pretentious travelling revue to come to this burlesque headquarters this season.

She is the kohinoor of the eye-blinding cast which includes such scintillating footlight sparklers as Mary Murray, Lillian Cairns, Jean Guest, Lillian Harrison and Lima Denning. The lovelies who have been assembled from all over the world are famous for their artistry in the native dances of far countries.

Not to be overlooked are the 30 dancing Bernardolls, whose intricate and fetching dance ensembles vary and improve by the week.

But even pulchritude must make way for comedy in this instance, Ringleader Bob Ferguson and his gang of funsters.

Not to be missed this week is Thursday night's regular radio audition for amateurs, an added feature to the nightly burlesque revue.

The smash event of the week is the big midnight show on Thursday night, eve of Patriots' Day, for which reservations may now be made.

Margie Hart Howard's Star

What's wrong about Margie Hart, burlesque's saucy and shapely darling, appearing in a costume invented for tropical temperatures?

Margie Hart

It should be plenty tropical at the Old Howard this week when Margie, heading the brand-new road show, "Streets of Paris" burlesquers, presents herself in this celebrated celluloid costume showing plenty of white space.

Miss Hart can also dance, as those who have seen her previously on the Old Howard stage can vouch for.

The lovely lady's supporting cast is captained by auburn-haired Nadine Marsh, a Hollywood product, Pat "Paradise" Paris, a blonde with a decidedly French accent, and Kay Austin, an alluring contortionist dancer, are other decorative members of the cast.

Such accomplished performers as Billy Ainsley, popular tramp comic; Harry "Shuffles" Levan, and the Three Lucky Bucks, colored team, are expected to provide the comedy.

Others in the cast of 60 are Marvin Lawlor, June and Ethel Kenton, Mac Dennison, Margo Murray, Wen Miller, Mel Bishop and the Longworth Trio. Last but not least there are the chorus of 30 glorified "Streets of Paris" dancing belles.

Screen offerings include "Tailspin," with Alice Faye and Constance Bennett, and "Sunset Trail," starring William Boyd, as well as the usual weekly news releases and comedy shorts.

There are three shows daily at the Old Howard, starting at 12 o'clock noon, 2:30 and 8:30 p. m. On Friday night, there is a midnight show, beginning at 11:30.

Playwright Award To Robert Ardrey

The Sidney Howard Memorial Award of $1500, to be given annually to a new American playwright who, having had no previous substantial success in the theater, has had one or more plays produced in New York during the current season, has been bestowed upon Robert Ardrey, author of "Thunder Rock."

Leila Ernst Back In Broadway Role

Eddie Bracken, juvenile comedian, who created the role of Jojo Jordan in "Too Many Girls," and Boston's Leila Ernst, who portrayed the flirtatious Southern co-ed, will return to their original parts tonight in the Rodgers and Hart hit musical in New York.

Both have been on a five weeks' leave of absence from the George Abbott production, granted so that they could accept Hollywood contracts.

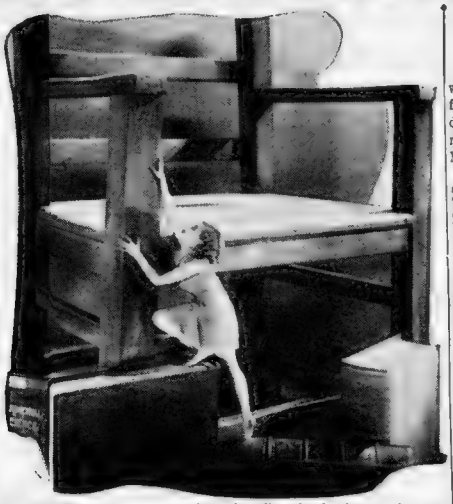
'DR. CYCLOPS,' ADVENTURE THRILLER, AT MET THURSDAY



ALL DRESED up in a pocket handkerchief, Janice Logan plays a losule-sized victim of the diabolical "Dr. Cyclops," the manno "shrinks" humans to doll size in the Technicolor thriller oning to the Metropolitan Theater on Thursday.

Film Secret Out at Last

A power-mad scientist with an invention that will rock the world and five helpless victims turned into capsule creatures one-fifth their normal size are the principals in the screen's startling drama, "Dr. Cyclops," Paramount's adventure thriller in Technicolor, which opens its first local showing on Thursday at the Metropolitan Theater.

Filmed behind locked doors from a closely-guarded secret script, "Dr. Cyclops" release solves a riddle the whole screen world has been talking about for more than a year: Why is this story so spectacular no word of it can leak out? What is this production that cost a fortune and yet has not a "big name" in its cast? who are the "humanettes" and why are they the year's most surprising film characters?

The secret is out! "Dr. Cyclops," a picture as daring as it is different, tells what happens when an unbalanced but brilliant scientist discovers a machine that "shrinks" human beings into miniature people 14 inches tall, yet retaining all the emotions, functions and personality of full-sized men and women. The story deals with the experiences of four men and a woman upon whom "Dr. Cyclops" performs his weird experiment.

Hair-raising adventure strikes, when the five victims, Janice Logan, Thomas Coley, Charles Halton, Victor Kilian and Frank Yaconelli, invade the hideout of Doctor Cyclops (Albert Dekker) high up in the trackless Andes Mountains of Peru. Lured into the madman's laboratory and in front of his infernal machine the five are turned into doll-sized humans and awake in a world that turns their blood cold with terror.

Shakespeare Play In New Version

Ruth Wilk, formerly associated with Margaret Webster, and now with the Liebling-Wood office, has prepared a new version of Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing" which will be tried out in late July or early August by the Farragut Players, Rye Beach, N. H. According to Miss Wilk, the play will be treated in a similar manner to the Lunt version of "The Taming of the Shrew."

Cohan Premiere At Colonial

Tonight's the night for "The Return of the Vagabond," which returns to one and only George M. Cohan to he Colonial Theater as the author-manager-star of his own play, a sequel to "The Tavern."

As for to play itself and "what all the scotin' is for," advance reports hae it that it is the story of a mysterious stranger out of the stormy night who does his best to adjust the lives of a group of strangers athered at a lonely inn.

Heading the cast are McKay Morris, Marie Louise Dana, Celeste Holm, Ed McNamara, E. J. Blunkhall, Joe Verdi, Gretchen Davidson, Donal McClelland, John Cherry, John Morny, Florenz Ames, Leslie Hut, Fred Herrick, George Leach, Gorge Thornton, George Smith and Margaret Gainer.

The engagement is for two weeks, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

You Can Be Beautiful

Here's to a Wild Rose

By ARLINE GOULD

SWEET as the month of June . . . when the fields are green and sun-warmed, the wild rose sends out a fragrance so unmistakable that it can't be confused with any other . . . a sunny sweetness mixed with an elusive spiciness . . . and though it mightn't seem possible, it actually has been duplicated exactly in a perfume!

Such a success was its discovery considered . . . so promptly did every one fall for it . . . that every possible beauty and grooming aid, in make-up and bath things, as well as cologne, was brought out . . . so that if you wanted to float around, really smelling like a wild rose, you could!

And if there is a more charming idea . . . more in keeping with the important (to you and you!) emphasis on much femininity . . we don't know what it is!

But that certainly isn't all . . the wild rose make-up has not only the fragrance, but the same entrancing deep-rose color of the flower petals.

There is something so consummately natural about this glowing pink, so freshly young-making, it's easy to predict a rage for it.

Consider for your bathroom a bubbling bath essence, perfumed like wild roses, and having a top that resembles their petals! Just no end to this delightful magic . . . so that you can smell as well as look like a wild rose.

If you'd like to learn all about this entrancing new ensemble of wild rose make-up and perfumed aids, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IN HER story Arline Gould tells about the delightful fragrance, and the exquisite tones of the exciting new wild rose beauty aids . . . and here are illustrated some of them, beautifully packaged and bottled . . . now if we could only show you the fragile tints of the containers themselves, but you can see for yourself in a Boston shop, where they have just arrived.

LUCKY COLOR—Today's lucky color is rose.

Send 15 cents and large self-addressed stamped envelope to Frances Drake, Boston American, Box 2228, Boston, for an individual horoscope, personal guide and lucky calendar for the first six months of 1940, giving the day and month you were born.

DELICIOUS!

Paint Pictures on Glass

A colorful picture is "Treasure Ships at Sea"—yellow sails against a sunset sky, billowing purple-splashed clouds, the dark bulk of a Spanish galleon on a blue-green sea. In its full size, 9 by 12 inches, it's stunning on your walls.

You paint this lovely romantic scene on glass easily—other subjects, too—by a simple method. Lay a piece of glass over your printed design, then paint over the shaded portions, which show clearly through the glass.

With only three tubes of oil paint—red, blue and yellow—you mix any desired color. For lighter tones, add white household enamel; for darker tones, black household enamel.

Other handsome pictures you can paint the same easy way are given in our set, Six Pictures to Paint on Glass. Includes "Sunflowers and Zinnias," "Skyscrapers," "Poplars by the River," "Fishing Village," "Old Windmill" besides "Treasure Ships at Sea"—all 9 by 12 inches. Tells what colors to use for each design, how to apply them. Chart shows how to mix colors.

Send 15c in coins for our set of Six Pictures to Paint on Glass to Boston Evening American, Home Institute, 109 West 19th st., New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of picture set.

Use More Milk and Cheese

BY MARTHA LEE

MILK and cheese are among dairyland's contribution to good nutrition for American families. These two foods rank high in many of the important food values, and they are both useful in cooking.

Probably the most familiar version of the cheese and cereal combination is baked macaroni and cheese. But you can also use cheese to give a flavor contrast to other cereals such as sphaghetti, rice, grits, and corn meal.

BAKED MACARONI AND CHEESE

1 pkg. (8 oz.) macaroni
2 cups medium white sauce
1¼ to 2 cups grated cheese
¼ cup bread crumbs, buttered

Boil macaroni according to directions on the package; put in greased casserole in alternate layers with sauce and grated cheese. Pour white sauce over top and cover with buttered crumbs; bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) for 20 to 25 minutes, or until crumbs are browned. Spaghetti may be used in place of macaroni. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

WELSH RAREBIT

cup thin white sauce
¼ tsp. dry mustard
2 cups (½ lb.) grated cheese
4 slices buttered hot toast

Prepare sauce, add mustard and cheese, and cook over boiling water until cheese is melted and mixture smooth, stirring constantly. Serve at once on toast. Makes 4 servings.

CHEESE TOAST

1 lb. cheese
1 cup rich milk or cream
2 tbsp. flour mixed with
2 tbsp. water
2 eggs
4 drops tabasco sauce, or a few grains of cayenne pepper
A little onion juice, if desired
½ tsp. salt
1½ tsp. baking powder

Shave the cheese into thin small pieces. Heat the milk or cream in a double boiler, thicken with the flour which has been mixed with the water, and cook for 5 minutes. Add the beaten eggs, the cheese, and the seasonings, and cook slowly until the cheese has melted and the mixture is thick and creamy. Allow to cool; then add the baking powder.

Toast one side of the bread. Spread the cheese mixture thickly on the untoasted side to the very edge. If the cheese mixture does not come to the edges of the bread, they become brown and hard. Brown the cheese delicately under a low broiler flame or in the oven. If desired, place a strip of crisp bacon across each slice of cheese toast. Serve it hot from the oven. This recipe makes enough for 12 to 14 slices of bread.

The cheese mixture, except for the baking powder, may be prepared the day before it is to be used. Since the mixture stiffens on standing, heat until soft in a double boiler, let it cool, and add the baking powder. Then spread the cheese on the bread, and toast.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

NEW ENGLAND is famous for its antiques and its auctions . . . So it is difficult to put on a really outstanding auction sale in these parts . . . Yet the committee for the Lowthorpe School of Architecture seems to have turned the trick . . .

The list of items to be sold for the benefit of the school Thursday afternoon at 575 Boylston st., Copley sq., reads like a treasure trove of interesting and valuable objects . . . Fine linens and old lace for hope chests of June brides, furniture for an 18th Century drawing room, old shawls, brocades from China and antique silver are among the contributions which are being stored at the home of Mrs. John Gardner Coolidge until the day of the sale . . .

Many museum pieces are included in the collection to come under the auctioneer's gavil . . . Contributions from such aristocratic old New England homes as those of Mrs. I. Tucker Burr, Mrs. Henry Tudor, Mrs. John Stanley Ames, Mrs. J. D. Cameron Bradley, Dean and Mrs. William Emerson, Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, Mrs. Standish Backus and Mrs. Pierpont L. Stackpole, whose gifts have been received by Mrs. Coolidge . . .

Other recent contributions include Mrs. William Crowninshield Endicott, Mrs. John W. Higgins, first vice-president of the board of the Lowthorpe School; Mrs. Philip Van R. Ely of Pomfret Center, Ct., Mrs. Bayard Thayer, Mrs. Frederick S. Goodwin, Mrs. William K. Prentice of Princeton, N. J., Mrs. Robert B. Choate of Danvers, Mrs. James Perkins, 2d, and Mrs. William Wharton of "The Elms," Groton . . . The auction sale is open to the public . . . admission free . . .

MRS. H. T. BALLANTINE, JR. MRS. F. G. JACKSON

MRS. H. THOMAS BALLANTINE, JR., and Mrs. Francis G. Jackson, attractive young marrieds who will assist at the Opera House tomorrow evening for the gala opening night performance of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. The occasion, sponsored by a prominent group of Bostonians, will benefit the Burroughs Newsboys Foundation.

ANTI-DOG HOUSE DEPARTMENT . . . you know the old saying about an ounce of prevention—so here's a tip to Charles R. Miles, John I. Taylor and Robert B. Cutler, which may save several pounds of apologies and explanations . . . In case they are so busy at the office, that they just didn't have time to remember, etc., today is their first wedding anniversary . . . The brides of a year are the former Jean Carpenter who was married to Charles Miles in Swampscott; blonde Peggy Blake who became Johnny Taylor's wife; and Marian Lawrence whose marriage to young Bob Cutler at the Groton School a year ago today attracted many fashionable friends and relatives of the Lawrence and Cutler families . . .

Notes From a Society Editor's Cuff

WEEK-END PARTIES included an after-the-Vincent-show get-together at Peggy Parker's which kept lights blazing in the lavendar glass windows of her mother's Commonwealth ave. home till the wee small hours Sunday morning . . . Peggy was the leading ballet dancer in the show . . . Mr. and Mrs. Earl Major of Newton Center gave a cocktail party Saturday for a U. S. Army couple who have been transferred to a post in the Phillipines . . . The Dick Pentecosts of Dedham received congratulations yesterday on the first anniversary of their marriage . . . Mrs. Pentecost is the former Jean Bowman of New York, accomplished artist and horsewoman . . . Just back from a long and very gay sojourn on the West Coast, Frances Lowell of Mt. Vernon st., is receiving warm greetings from Junior Leaguers and Vincent members . . .

'Cappy' Ryan Weds in Fall

Mrs. Mary O'Connell Ryan of Chestnut Hill gave a dinner party Saturday to announce the engagement of her daughter, Catherine "Cappy" Ryan, to Dr. Charles L. Sullivan, Jr., prominent young Boston surgeon.

The bride-to-be, grandniece of William Cardinal O'Connell, is a graduate of the Sacred Heart Country Day School. Her cousin, Moira O'Connell, is engaged to William J. Keville, Jr., of Belmont.

Dr. Sullivan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Sullivan of Jamaica Plain. He graduated from Dartmouth in 1931 and from Boston University Medical School in 1935. The wedding will take place in the fall.

The Fat Should Be Unashamed

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

This little piece might be called "How To Be Fascinating Though Fat." And it concerns the words of wisdom handed out by Elsa Maxwell, who makes a very fine living arranging social functions for rich people who lack her imagination and ingenuity.

Elsa is definitely on the buxom side and makes no apologies for her poundage.

"If you're fat," she says, "don't slink into a room, like a criminal, with abject apology written all over your face, even for living. Be self-assertive. Enter with authority and make the whole room yours."

But, she qualifies, to take a room by storm it's necessary to be well-dressed, whether your figure is expansive or stringbean.

Miss Maxwell tosses aside most of the "stylish stout" hints. She loves gay colors, fluffy furs and actually goes in for white evening gowns, but she is careful to avoid shiny whites like satin and metal-threaded effects, and avoids sequins put on in circles. If you must have sequins, and are on the chunky side, have them sewed up and down.

But Elsa never effects tight clothes. Instead of slimming they accent all the bulges, and show up where you're fat in the wrong places. For instance, if your upper army is very heavy swathe it in loose folds, but show the wrists, which are apt to be slender.

Short capes and short jackets are bad for fat ladies. The full length coat or cape gives the eye something to follow. And the insane hats worn by women at the present time are taboo if the figure is on the generous side.

Manners

Marrying Again

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I was married 18 years and my husband died four years ago. I am contemplating marrying again and I would very much like to still wear my old wedding ring, as it meant so much to me.

Would it be all right for me to continue wearing my first wedding ring and also wear my new wedding ring? If so, on what hand should each be worn? READER.

Your first consideration about this should, of course, be the feelings of your fiance. The custom is, for obvious reasons, that a woman never wears her first wedding ring after the second marriage has been performed. As soon as she becomes engaged she takes off her first engagement ring and her first wedding ring. She should do this in fairness to her second husband.

Mistress Mary's Garden

Tips for Beginners

By T. W. LEGGETT

IS IT POSSIBLE for amateurs to grow in outdoor gardens annual flowers as large as those which have become a common sight in florists' windows?

This question cannot be answered for all amateurs, because so much depends upon skill, the weather, soil conditions and other factors, which vary greatly. But it can be stated without reservation, that every amateur flower grower can greatly improve the quality of his annual flowers by proper care and feeding, especially by supplying ample plant food.

Fast growth is more important to annuals than to other flowers, because they have so little time to reach maturity. They must attain the greatest possible size and vigor between the time seeds are sown, and the date when nature decrees flowering shall begin.

To obtain the maximum growth, the soil in which they grow should be well prepared. Plow or spade to a depth of at least 6 inches as early as possible. The soil should be friable, or crumbly. Loosen heavy clay with sand, coal ashes, or peat moss.

After the soil is prepared and smoothed a complete modern plant food should be spread over the area at the rate of four pounds per 100 square feet and raked into the top soil. This initial feeding should be supplemented by an application of plant food at the rate of two pounds per 100 square feet eight weeks after seeding.

With careful watering and cultivation you will be surprised at the manner in which annual flowers respond to this treatment. Do not crowd the plants. See that each has room to develop its full beauty.

Eight weeks after seeding, plant food should be applied and worked in and around the young plants.

Candidates Taste War

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The war took an upward curve last week and the presidential candidates took three straight strikes. They can't hit upward curves.

They were going great guns until that shaggerraking started. Now they're on the back of the stove simmering gently.

As the tenth week of the contest gets under way, keep that giant $10,000.00 First Prize in mind. Continue in this entertaining game by solving each day's new puzzle. Remember, it won't be long now before this Rebus Contest winds up with a flourish and the 100 winners are determined. Keep your name in the running for one of the big prize checks!

IF YOU'RE JUST STARTING IN THE CONTEST . . .

The opportunity to win $10,000.00 or any of the other prizes is still open to you. If you're not yet in this Rebus Game, there's still time to enter and catch up. The coupon in the lower right corner brings you the previous puzzles. When you've submitted your answers to the first nine series (Puzzles 1-54) you'll be entirely caught up with the contest . . . just as though you had started on the very first day!

In this contest, the solutions are submitted in weekly series of six. Ten cents in coin must accompany each series to qualify for a prize under the rules.

THE RULES

1—The Boston Record-American Rebus Game is open to all bona fide residents of the New England States, except employes of the Boston Record, the Boston American and the Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, any person acting as a proxy for another, and any person who has won $500 or more in any newspaper contest.

2—Beginning Monday, February 12th, 1940, a Rebus puzzle will be published each weekday in the Boston Record and the Boston American. Contestants may obtain their puzzles from either publication. The six puzzles published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen weekly series. Answers for each week's series of puzzles should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor c/o the Boston Record-American Rebus Game. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after that series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.

3—One Hundred (100) prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes, to those 100 contestants who, by their solutions, achieve the 100 highest scores. No contestant may win more than one prize. Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your answers.

4—In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize, just what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking puzzles and if necessary a second, third or fourth set of tie-breaking puzzles. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest scores achieved by contestants, in accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the solution of such tie-breaking puzzles. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking puzzles without assistance, in the office of the Boston Record or the Boston American. In case of final ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5—In order to qualify for a prize, contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of answers with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged.

To those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of puzzles and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest, the Boston Record-American will present a special series of fifteen original Rebus puzzles created by Harold Hart, foremost puzzle expert.

6—Any person by entering this contest, agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record and the Boston American on all matters affecting this contest, including among others, the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the judging of answers, the scoring of solutions, and the interpretation of such instructions (governing individual puzzles) as may be announced by the contest officials. By entering this contest participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record and the Boston American and will not be returned.

7—Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claims to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. The Boston Record and the Boston American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the contestant to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American Contest Editor to the contestant.

CHAMPAGNE CRUISE

A Complete Short Story Daily on This Page

By HOLLIS STARNES

"CALL the chorus Monday at twelve," the stage manager told his assistant. Above their tiny dressing-room office near the stage, youthful feet could be heard clattering down the steel stairway. The Saturday matinee was over; and half a hundred singing and dancing beauties of "She Came Up Smiling" were bound for tea, cocktail and dinner dates.

The Cast of Characters in "Champagne Cruise"

MAUREEN, a charming chorine who plans an Easter cruise.

HUGH, assistant stage manager who, interested in Maureen, resents her plan and can only see disaster.

Mack Helton, the gray-haired little manager of the stage, had a dinner date himself; but it was with his wife; and for 30 years Stella had always been late. So with his feet on the dressing room shelf, he took his ease and gave orders to his good-looking adjutant, Hugh Heffernan.

Hugh was a big, curly-headed blonde, who looked more like a football hero than a Broadway theatrical man. A few seasons before he had, indeed, been Fordham's hope of gridiron glory. But the theater was his heritage; the Heffernans had been song and dance men before Harrigan and Hart. Hugh's aim was to become a director, and he had started at the bottom, to learn stage management. At 24, he was first assistant to Mack Helton, veteran backstage boss of Broadway's biggest musicals.

When Mack said, "Call the chorus," Hugh groaned: "What, again? Which of the mink coat brigade needs a vacation now?"

"What are you grousing about?" demanded his superior. "It's a break for you when there's a change in the chorus line. Gives you experience handling rehearsals, and putting the girls through their paces."

"It's not the work I mind," Hugh defended briskly. "You got my grouse wrong, mister. It's these chorus dames' holidays that gripe me. Listen, Mack — this show opened in August. Do you realize that since Thanksgiving we've had girls out on vacation every week, and it's going on Easter?"

THE SHOW GOES ON

"Sure," Mack grinned, "we got beautiful girls in this show. If they get invited to Palm Beach and Miami for a couple of weeks in cold weather, what the h— they're only young once. The show goes on just the same. Plenty of experienced kids waiting the chance to substitute, and draw their pay."

"It's the principle of the thing I'm against," railed the reformer. "Such a rotten example for the hardworking kids in the show that have to support themselves, and sometimes dependents. They have to keep on hoofing, while these—"

"Lilies of the field?" supplied Mack grinning.

"These mink-clad lilies," grunted Hugh, "can take time out for swimming and skiing."

"In this case," Mack mentioned, nodding toward a memo on his desk, "it's an Easter cruise."

Hugh twirled around in the little cubicle. "Gee, that burns me up!" he stormed. "What's Easter supposed to mean, anyhow? It's bad enough the way women have turned it into a new hat parade — but these champagne cruises are a desecration!"

"You got to be more tolerant, Hugh," soothed the older man. "These gals don't think about what holidays mean, except to go places." He looked up at the glowering young face. "You should have gone into a cloister. Show business is no place for you."

"It's just the place for me! When I get to be a director I'm going to start cleaning it up. There'll be no mink coats in my chorus, and no vacations for—Easter cruises!"

"No chorus would work for you," Mack advised drily, "with such ideas."

"I could get some of the kids right out of this show, and plenty of other decent girls who want to work for their living!"

"A chorus," Mack Helton philosophized, "is like a little kingdom. You'll never get all saints in it, any more than you can ever get a state full of perfect citizens. Unless," he grinned, "you quit show business and take over Dewey's job."

"WHO'S THE GAL?"

"I'm going out to eat," Hugh announced abruptly. He yanked down his coat from a nail. "Which one of the lilies is going cruising?"

"You'd be surprised," said Helton. "But she's got personal permission from the boss."

Hugh slung his coat around his shoulders. "The boss is a big softie. Well, I'm going to eat. Who's the gal?"

"I said you'd be surprised. Maureen O'Mara."

Heffernan's jaw went out. "If that's your idea of a gag," he said, "it's sour."

Mack tossed the typed memo to him.

"Dear Mack," Hugh read aloud, "please have a chorus replacement ready for Monday night. I have promised Maureen O'Mara a week's holiday for an Easter cruise."

Slowly he placed the note back on the table. "So that's that," he said in a very low voice.

"I was bowled over myself," observed Helton. "Maureen's always seemed such an innocent kid. A hard worker, easy to get along with, a sweet smile——"

"Gee, I'm sorry," Hugh apologized, and steadied her; "Mack's waiting for you."

"Shut up, will you?" writhed Heffernan.

"Gee!" Mack whistled. "I didn't know it meant anything personal to you. Didn't even know you'd ever taken the girl out."

"I never have—any further than her apartment door. She gave me some tale about her grandmother waiting up for her."

"That's the truth," Mack defended. "Kate O'Mara was character woman in the company with Stella 30 years ago. A grand old trouper."

"That kid's only 18," Hugh agonized. "Just out of a convent school. I'd have staked my life on her." He grabbed his hat. "You're right. I belong in a cloister!" he shouted and slammed out the door.

As he hit the dark passageway, he almost knocked a slight feminine figure off her feet. "Gee, I'm sorry, Mrs. Helton," he apologized, and steadied her; "Mack's waiting for you."

But it was Maureen O'Mara's lilting voice that answered: "That's all right. Can I speak to Mr. Helton?"

"Come on in, Maureen," Mack called out.

Heffernan followed, his eyes fastened on her. Never had she looked so like a schoolgirl, in her little wool jacket and hood, her short plaid skirt and sports shoes. Her hair was blue-black like his mother's, her eyes were wide and grey, and he always had loved the tilt of her nose.

"Did you hear about my vacation?" she inquired, with her most disarming smile.

"We did," thundered Hugh.

"I'm sorry to be out Easter week," she rippled on, "but you see this—cruise was planned before the show opened."

"Where you going," Mack queried, "on your cruise?"

"Just somewhere on a yacht. Isn't that thrilling? I've never been on a yacht." She looked bewitchingly from one man to the other.

"I suppose," Hugh ground out with blackest irony, "your grandmother's going along?"

"Oh, did the boss tell you? The press man's going to make a story out of it, and put our pictures in the paper."

"Why not let us in on the story now?" Mack urged gently.

"It's not much, really. You see, Gran always said when she got her first Social Security check we'd go on a boat trip. She's trouped the country over, but since she landed here from Ireland as a child, she's never been anywhere on a boat."

"IT'S PERFECT"

Hugh's eyes were still riveted on her; the grim lines about his mouth had not yet relaxed.

"So when the money came," she was saying, "Gran wrote the boss asking if it could have a week off and told him why. We hadn't decided where to go on the trip yet, we were just looking at circulars. Cruises cost an awful lot!"

She met Hugh's eyes steadily. "Yesterday, what do you think? The boss called on Gran. He said he and his wife were spending Easter with her family out West, and as their yacht was just sitting there doing nothing—or do yachts sit?" she giggled.

Mack chuckled as he jumped up. Hugh suddenly exploded in a gale of laughter. "Sure they sit!" he declared and whirled Maureen around the dressing-room. "That's the best joke I ever heard in my life!" he told her. "It's perfect!"

"Come on, kids, let's go eat," said Mack, reaching for his coat. "I'll leave word with the doorman for Stella to join us. She's an hour late now; ought to be along soon." He slipped a paternal arm about his pair of charges. "We'll all go to celebrate Maureen's Easter Cruise!"

HOW YOU CAN BORROW $100 IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $6.41 A MONTH

Do you want to get a cash loan quickly and simply? At Household Finance you can borrow $20 to $300 without endorsers or guarantors, if you can make regular monthly payments. And you needn't even leave your own home to apply for the money you need. You may repay your loan on the installment plan which best fits your own purse.

Choose your own payment plan

Suppose you need $100 and can conveniently repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.41 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table (loans also made in other amounts and for other periods.) Note that you may make very small payments if you wish. Note also that the sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. Four monthly installments of $26.58 each, or a total of only $106.32, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full. (Payments shown in the table include all charges.)

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month. This rate is less than the maximum permitted by the Small Loan Law.

Boreal Setting for Hub's First Ball Game

THE FAITHFUL MARTYRS OF THE PRESS and telegraph quaked and suffered while the orphaned Bees smacked the Red Sox aristocrats by 7 to 3. They huddled on the hurricane deck at Fenway Park, clattering their instruments and chattering their teeth until it was impossible to tell which was Morse Code and which was meaningless dental vibrations. And long after the pale sun had dipped beyond the Charles and the ulstered and reefered crowd had gone off to hunt a spot of something warm, the literary Eskimos stayed on, lighting match-flares to thaw out their typing fingers, stabbing stiffly at their toy typewriters and getting scalped by the updrafts from the field.

AUSTEN LAKE

The game, as seen from the rim through wind-tears and nose snuffles, suited its action to the boreal setting. In truth Joe Heving, who led the grand inaugural march of six Red Sox pitchers, had hardly worked the frost out of his elbow when Max West kissed his No. 1 ball into the right field section.

This is the portion of the field which Tom Yawkey, the altruistic owner of the Sox, ordered altered last winter to turn some of Ted Williams' pop-flies into something more profitable. So he fenced off a little patio in front of the stands, raised some concrete walls and a superstructure of grill work and called it "Williamsburg."

Don't mistake! There was nothing cheap about West's homer—a he-Man poke in any ball orchard and one that traveled in a white blur over the artificial area and into the thick of the customer section. So Maxie won himself a gold wrist-watch which some downtown jeweler had offered as a prize and angular Theodore got nothing but a base-on-balls, a lot of goose-pimples, a busted bat, and some gnawed finger nails.

Sullivan Steals Pitching Show

JOE CRONIN GAVE THE HOMEFOLKS a pre-view of his much publicized pitching staff, including Mickey Harris, Herb Hash, Bill Butland, Woody Rich and Dinny Galehouse, who are supposed to add some spinal stiffening to what, last year, was a pretty wabbly backbone. But the kid who stole the calcium was a comparative nonentity named Joe Sullivan, who came in to shoot some trouble for the Bees with his custard pie pitch, mixed with a kind of apple-dumpling ball and a few aerial cream puffs.

The kid, who is little larger than a standard sized horse jockey and throws from the wrong side, didn't seem to have enough speed to bust a light bulb against a brick wall. In fact he looked more like your little sister Tillie duck-winging sticks for the family puppy than a vocational pitcher in baseball's top company. He had the Sox sluggers, who boast the highest team average in the game, making exasperated slaps at a soft floater which came up large as a cantaloupe and had a way of dodging their bats like a shy child ducking a stranger's pat. You could tell by the way the Sox worked their lips on their way back to the bench that they did not like Sullivan's style of pitching.

I NEGLECTED TO SAY THAT JIMMY FOXX splashed a fifth-inning two-bagger against the freshly painted center field wall which scored the tieing runs and caused a lot of cross-haggling back and forth among the journalists. It's strange that so many pairs of eyes, trained to see the technical niceties of sport, should be so bewildered about what happened.

It was one of those hump-backed drives for which James is famous, and as it drifted out and Bob Loane, the Bees' freshman outfielder, tried to crimp his spikes into the concrete facing and scale the wall like a human fly, the ball seemed to bounce back a few feet from the top of the fence.

Yet, simple as it seems, the press were divided into two opposite schools of thought, with those in the right wing insisting that the ball had fallen short on a patch of winter-killed grass and those in the left ear yelling that it struck the fence. Either way, blocky Jimmy, whose leg action was smothered by a full suit of winter underwear beneath his quilted pads and uniform, knotted the count at 3-all.

Sox Came Apart in the Sixth

I WISH I COULD DRESS THIS OPUS with scholarly discussions of the contest, which, truth to tell, was just a prime sample of Bee co-ordination between eye-and-muscle, over-riding intellect, in the shape of Cronin's manipulations. The big explosion came in the sixth inning when Chet Ross whacked a whiskery grounder that went under Cronin's pelvic arch and on to the outfield. Then Jim Tabor picked up Loane's infield drool and aimed it at one of Yawkey's pet pigeons on the mezzanine

POSEDEL HURLS OPENER AS BEES FACE DODGERS

By BILL GRIMES

Although he is highly elated over winning the Intra-City title from the Red Sox, Casey Stengel had his Bees out at National League Field early this morning.

During the Grapefruit League season in Florida and the exhibition games on the way North, Casey did plenty of experimenting.

"LIKE THIS, JOE"—Bill Posedel, Bees' pitching ace, shows Joe Callahan of East Boston how to improve curve. Posedel will pitch opener against Dodgers here tomorrow.

But as soon as he returned to Boston, Casey went back to his original spring lineup and today he's driving his charges in preparation for the opening game of the N. L. season at the Hive tomorrow against Brooklyn.

BRAND NEW INFIELD

The Bees will start the season with Buddy Hassett at first, Sibby Sisti at second, Eddie Miller in shortstop and Tony Cuccinello at third.

When the Bees crashed the barrier a year ago, Hassett was in right field, Cuccinello at second, Miller was in the same spot but Sisti was down at Hartford. So with the exception of shortstop, the Bees have a new infield. The same holds true of the outfield, where Max West is the only holdover. Chet Ross, one of the most promising outfielders the Bees have acquired since Bob Quinn took over the club, will be in left, with Bob Loane patroling center.

Bill Posedel, another ex-Dodger, will be on the hilltop tomorrow.

LOPEZ DEFIES INJURY

Capt. Al Lopez will do the receiving. Al broke a finger a week ago at Augusta, Ga. and will wear a steel protector on the injured member.

Hundreds of celebrities will attend the opener here. Governor Saltonstall, who has been on the Pacific Coast visiting his daughter, is flying home and expects to arrive in time to toss out the first ball. In the event that he fails to put in an appearance, Mayor Tobin will "pitch."

The army, navy, marines and air corps will be represented and there will be two squads of Marines assigned for the breaking out of colors. Jimmy Coughlin will be there with his famous 101st infantry band.

BEES CRUSH HOSE

The Bees came through with a well-deserved victory yesterday at Fenway Park in the third and deciding game of the intracity series.

Nick Strincevich lived up his numerous press notices by holding the slugging Croninmen to two

Sox Drill in Capital; Grove Pitching Choice

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15—Joe Cronin and his Red Sox detrained at the Union Station early this morning and trekked to the Hotel Shoreham for breakfast and a few hours of relaxation.

Bucky Harris planned to work his Nats for about three or four hours today. When he arrived at Griffith Stadium this morning he discovered that his boss, Clark Griffith, had fallen for a sales talk delivered by his (Griff's) son-in-law, Joe Cronin, and that the Red Sox had been granted permission to practise today.

The Sox were in a belligerent mood when they arrived here. They had been beaten for the Boston intracity title by the Bees, who had lost five straight verdicts to the Senators.

GROVE MAY HURL

Manager Cronin refused to name his starting pitcher for tomorrow's opene.

In the event that the weather man listens to reason and comes up with a spring day, veteran Lefty Grove is expected to receive the nod. Grove hasn't seen much action this spring but he has confided in his boss that he believes he is ready to stop the Nats, weather permitting.

Whereas there have been some radical changes in the Nats' lineup, such as shifting Buddy Lewis from third to right field, changing Cecil Travis from short to the hot corner and turning short berth over to Jimmie Pofahl, the Red Sox open the 1940 American League campaign with practically a veteran lineup.

Since the close of the 1939 season, the Sox have added only one new face. Dom DiMaggio, third member of that famous baseball family to come up to the majors, will be in right field. Washington fans have seen Joe DiMaggio and have read about Vince of the Reds, but they will get their first peek at Dom tomorrow.

Ted Williams, outstanding rookie last season, has been assigned to cover left field, with "Doc" Cramer back at his old berth in center.

Jimmy Foxx, in better condition than at any time since he joined the Sox, will be at first, with Bobby Doerr at second, Manager Joe at short and Scatterarm Jim Tabor at the hot corner.

President Roosevelt will be on hand tomorrow to toss out the first ball and an army of Senators and Congressmen will sit in on the opening game of the American League season.

Injuries Peril Yankees

Joe DiMaggio 5th to Be Hurt

NEW YORK, April 15 Joe McCarthy was keeping his fingers crossed today as he waited the season's opening against the Athletics tomorrow. For ill luck comes in streaks to most ball clubs, and if the Yanks' jinx hasn't run its course the club will be crippled

Relief pitcher Johnny Murphy has a badly pulled back muscle. Atley Donald, hurler who won a dozen straight last year in his first campaign, has been bothered by a sore arm and now he has sciatica

Joe Gordon, star second baseman, has a bad charley horse in his hip, and this type injury seldom heals completely in a hurry. Jake Powell, competent spare outfielder, may have to stay in a Kentucky hospital for several weeks recuperating from the head injury sustained in a recent fence crash.

And yesterday McCarthy's hair whitened several more shades when Joe DiMaggio slid into second on a double at Ebbets Field as the Yanks were beating the Dodgers. Joe twisted his right ankle, and was in considerable pain. Whether the injury would slow him up wasn't quite certain this morning.

But it's easy to see that with any more trouble, the Yankees might well lose the big edge they have over the league, and open the road for the Red Sox or the other strong entries to get up to the top.

That condition wouldn't last, however. The new leader would be so scared finding itself up there all alone after all these years it would soon topple in sheer terror.

Five Rangers Face Operations

NEW YORK, April 15 (INS)—The triumphant New York Rangers were back in town today with the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the National Hockey League championships, which they won Saturday night in Toronto by beating the Maple Leafs.

It took the Rangers six games before they won the required four which gave them the up in the final series.

Five of the Rangers were headed for hospitals for operations, Goalie Davey Kerr and Alex Shibicky for chipped elbow bones; Neil and Mac Colville, for tonsilectomies, and Dutch Hiller for an appendectomy.

Scalzo Asks $5000, Title Fight Off

NEW ORLEANS, April 15 (AP)—Plans for a featherweight title fight in New Orleans between Petey Scalzo and Jimmy Perrin were abandoned today when Scalzo's manager demanded a $5000 guarantee for a bout here in Perrin's home town.

Pete Reilly, Scalzo's manager, said his man was willing to fight Perrin "in neutral territory" for 25 per cent of the gate to decide ownership of the crown which the National Boxing Association stripped last month from Joey Archibald.

True Star Burns Up Track At Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 15 (AP)—True Star, a "dark horse" from the stable of Joseph Schmitt, Louisville attorney, today had turned in the best mile workout of the season for a Kentucky Derby eligible prepping at Churchill Downs.

The son of Transmute and Cogartown, hitherto given little consideration for the way four races was clocked in :24 1-5, :49, 1:16 4-5 and 1:46 2-5 for the quarters.

Among other Derby candidates who took advantage of the best weather in a week to limber up their legs were Herbert Woolf's Prompt Pay and Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Gallahadion.

Prompt Pay took a five-furlong spin in 1:07 2-5. Gallahadion stepped a mile in 1:48 3-5.

Lawrin, Woolf's 1938 Derby winner being prepared for a comeback after two years in stud, worked out briefly.

Skier Killed In Coast Test

MT. RAINIER NATIONAL PARK, Wash., April 15 (AP)—Death and injuries marred the annual silver skis downhill race run under trying conditions Saturday.

Siguard Hall of Seattle, straight-running the opening slope of the course over glare ice, crashed into a rock and was killed. Vince Broz, Seattle, broke a leg and Paul Sceva, Jr., University of Washington, sprained a knee.

Paul Gilbreath, Seattle, won the three and one-sixteenth mile race in 5:24.2, far over the course record of 4:51.4, set last year by Pete Radacher of Sun Valley, Idaho. Toni Matt of North Conway, N. H., was second in 5:26. Nancy Reynolds, Sun Valley, won the women's race in 2:47.

hits for four innings, and he'd have slipped by the next round but for the fact that he issued a walk to Mickey Harris, Red Sox rookie southpaw hurler. That pass started the Red Sox on a three-run rally.

SOX FOOZLE GAME

After the Red Sox had tied the count in the fifth, the Bees came up with four runs and the verdict in the next round.

Harris was on the nill for the Cronimmen but he'd have been out of the inning without a run charged against him if Jim Tabor hadn't unloaded on a Bob Logue grounder and if Bobby Doerr had been able to handle Majeski's double play grounder.

But Tabor pulled Jimmy Foxx off the bag and then, with the bases loaded and one down, Doerr booted Majeski's bid for a hit and before the smoke had cleared the Bees had four runs across the plate.

Rites for Clark Semi-Pro Umpire, Set

CHICAGO, April 15 (INS)—Plans were completed for funeral services here today for Edward "Curly" Clark, veteran professional baseball league umpire who was killed in a Texas automobile accident.

Clark recently had been named umpire-in-chief of the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress for 1940. His death will necessitate naming a new chief.

Dollins Wins Amateur Golf

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 15 (AP)—Al Dollins of Covington, Va., gained his second consecutive Mason-Dixon amateur title, turning back Jack Ryerson of Cooperstown, N. Y., six and four in the 36-hole final.

6-Game Getaway for Ivy Loop

Rain and snow spoiled the debuts of two contenders last week, but the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League will try to get away to a six-game program—including a doubleheader—this week, according to the Associated Press.

Every team in the league except Yale will see action. The doubleheader, Princeton at Cornell on Saturday, was created by the postponement of the first game in the series last weekend.

Other games this week include: Columbia at Pennsylvania, Wednesday; Dartmouth at Pennsylvania and Harvard at Cornell both Friday; and Harvard at Pennsylvania, Saturday. Dartmouth will be making its league debut.

Les Pawson Bids For Third Victory In B. A. A. Grind

Loping Les Pawson of Pawtucket, twice winner of the B. A. A. Marathon, sent along his entry today for the 44th annual April 19 grind.

Pawson's name topped the list of new entrants announced today by Tom Kanaly for the American marathon championship of next Friday afternoon over the Hopkinton to Boston path.

With Pawson, Tarzan Brown, Johnny Kelley, Clarence DeMar, Don Heinicke and many other stars in the field, the big parade is certain to be one of the most colorful ever staged by the Unicorn Club.

As all entries officially closed April 12, Director Kanaly announced that only those entries received having a postmark of April 12 will be accepted and that no post entries will be taken the day of the race.

PAWSON FAVORED

In the list announced today Pawson, winner in 1933 and 1938 and fifth last year, heads the pack. The Pawtucket alderman is favored by many to win on Friday and become the first runner besides Clarence DeMar to win the B. A. A. race three times.

Experts feel that the indoor running Pawson took part in this season has built up his speed for Friday's big race.

A great marathoner from Canada, Gerard Cote of Quebec city, who finished seventh in 1937 and eighth last year, also entered. Still another of the first 10 of last year, Andre J. Brunelle of the North Medford Club, 10th in 1939, sent along his signed entry blank.

OTHER ENTRIES

Other entries announced included those of Jack Lockland, Allston; Charles E. Marsh, Framingham; Albert Donley, Somerville; Lawrence Healy, East Boston; William Foster, Roxbury; Joseph J. Limoli, Revere; Pat Polletta, Arthur Nadreau, Robert DeLong and Arthur Cloutier, all of Amesbury.

Also Frank Finn, Brockton; John Rozmas, Rockland; Louis D'Orgio, Braintree; Yames Yaitanes, Brookline; Carlos M. Whitlock, Barre, Vt.; Edward Wesolowski, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Charles W. Dawson, Newton; Albert Dandurand, Montreal, and William J. Dacey, Boston.

The total list to date is now 164.

BOYS' CLUB TRIALS END

Tonight and tomorrow night will, at the rate of 14 games each night, complete first round trials of the 17th annual amateur basketball tournament of the Boys' Clubs of Boston at the Jordan Memorial gym, Charlestown.

Second round trial games begin Wednesday night and continue through this week and the middle of next.

Sox, Bees Guests of Boston Chamber

The Boston Chamber of Commerce announced today plans for two baseball dinners, one to the Bees on Saturday evening, April 27, and one to the Red Sox on Tuesday evening, May 7.

Both dinners will be held in the main dining room of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and President Oscar W. Haussermann will act as toastmaster.

Players and officials will be at the head table at both dinners. It marks the first time in the history of the Boston Chamber of Commerce that a dinner has been tendered to professional sports.

Well-Stocked Streams Lure Chilled Anglers

The tall story season officially opened today as thousands of anglers braved the icy blasts in search of the elusive trout.

Reports are that local streams and ponds are well stocked with the most sensitive of the finny tribe, and unless the imaginations of the veteran Waltonians have deteriorated, these reports are expected to meet confirmation before nightfall.

RUGGED ANGLERS OUT

For the most part, only the regulars set out with the break of day, equipping themselves with warm clothing and an optimism ith which they hope to lure the sulking trout from the depths of frigid streams

Jamaica Pond was the only available spot in Suffolk County. There, a special department permit was needed, plus a regular $2 fishing license.

Trout fishing for many also is provided in Dover, Medfield and Needham in the Charles River. Likewise popular is the Blue Hill River in Quincy, as well as Pine Tree Brook and Blue Hill River in Milton, Old Swamp River, Pack Brook in Wrentham and Mine Brook in Franklin.

SPECIAL BAG LIMITS

In Plymouth County special bag limits of five have been imposed on ponds in state forests. Due to interest in fly fishing, State Commr. of Conservation Raymond J. Kenney said the following ponds will be restricted to that type of fishing between April 15 and June 15; Dean Pond, Frey Pond, Crow Hill Pond, Howe Pond, Barrett Pond and York Lake. From June 15 until the closing date, these ponds will be opened to fly or bait casting.

Jake Powell Out of Danger

ASHLAND, Ky., April 15 (INS)—Jake Powell, the New York Yankees outfielder who suffered a severe brain concussion here last week in an exhibition game with the Brooklyn Dodgers, was well out of danger today, according to Dr. C. B. Daniels.

Powell will have to be here for 10 days and can have no visitors, the doctor said.

Red Sox Sell Olson To Baltimore Club

Ted Olson, former Dartmouth pitching star, was sold outright today by the Red Sox to the Baltimore International League club. He had just returned from his third spring training trip with the Sox. Last year, with Louisville, Olson won 12 and lost 10.

PILOTS SHADOW-BOX ON 'WHO'LL WIN' QUIZ

Maybe you don't think so and maybe the standings won't show it after the season starts tomorrow, but every club in baseball's two major leagues is stronger this year, according to the Associated Press.

No less authority than the word of 16 managers can be accpted for the statement and you will have to admit that they ought to know. The only fault with the managers' survey is that if each club has improved as much as they say, no team can catch the club ahead.

None of the managers is publicly picking his own club to win the pennant.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Jimmy Dykes, White Sox:

"We'll have more power this year. If we hit consistently we'll make trouble all the way."

Joe Cronin, Red Sox:

"If our pitching, which has looked good, stays that way, we're going to be much improved. Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago and Washington have improved. We'll all be in there trying to knock off the Yankees."

YANKEES READY

Joe McCarthy, Yankees:

"The Yanks look as good as last year. No major league club ever won five straight championships, yet most everyone has picked us to perform that feat. My team is ready to meet any challenge."

Connie Mack, Athletics:

"I'm quite satisfied the Athletics will be much stronger this season than last, although I can't predict where we'll finish."

Fred Haney, Browns:

"We have an improved ball club and hope to finish higher than last year. The addition of Walt Judnich in center field and Alan Strange at shortstop will tighten our defense."

Del Baker, Detroit Tigers:

"I expect the Tigers to return to the first division this year, if Charley Gehringer is able to play second. Our outfield is stronger and Hank Greenberg has given it punch. The pitching also looks better."

Bucky Harris, Washington Senators:

VITT SIDESTEPS

"We have one of the fastest teams I have ever seen. It will be the kind of a team that the fans like to watch."

Oscar Vitt, Cleveland:

"At no time have I had the entire squad in shape to play at the same time. How can I make predictions?"

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Gabby Hartnett, Cubs:

"I'm convinced we have a better ball club than a year ago—how much better remains to be seen."

Bill McKechnie, Reds:

"We are ready to start the season with a club stronger than the one we won the pennant with last year."

Ray Blades, Cardinals:

"We think we have a pretty good club, but as to just where we will finish I am unable to say."

Leo Durocher, Brooklyn Dodgers:

"I'm not making a pre-season prediction on my team or any other team in the National League."

Bill Terry, Giants:

"The Giants are going to be right in the fight."

Casey Stengel, Bees:

"We have a young and ambitious ball club, but it's too early to tell how strong we'll be. If the pitching holds up we may be able to do a whole lot better than anyone expects us to."

Frank Frisch, Pirates:

"I hope we can show the fans a first division ball club this season."

Doc Prothro, Phillies:

"This is a better club than I managed last season and we should fare better."

Henderson Wins Tennis Crown

PINEHURST, N. C., April 15 (AP)—Archie Henderson of Chapel Hill defeated Charles Rider of Malverne, L. I., in straight decisive sets and won the North and South tennis championship 6—0, 6-2, 6—2.

In the doubles finals, Henderson and Alex Guerry of Sewanee, Tenn., were defeated by Harris Everett and Martin Buxby of Miami, Fla., 3—6, 3—6, 6—1, 6—1, 10—8.

Pro Grid Loop Retains Head, Settles Row

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—In a spirit of amicable compromise, the directors of the National Professional Football League have eliminated both the threat to supplant Carl L. Storck as league president and the source of the opposition.

Storck, the Dayton, O., automobile executive, was re-elected president for a one-year term at yesterday's concluding session of the annual league meeting. At the same time it was decided that hereafter the executive committee will supervise the selection of officials for all games. That apparently suited everyone.

Before the meeting there was a strong move to oust Storck from the office he has held since the death last spring of the league's only other president, Joe Carr. Arch Ward, Chicago sports editor, actually was offered the position at a big salary but turned it down.

The cause of the ouster move apparently was a dispute between the president and George Marshall of Washington over Bill Halloran of Providence, R. I., referee for the two playoff games last fall.

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

CASEY STENGEL isn't doing a great deal of shouting about the Bees, but secretly he feels he has a ball club that will make things hot for all National League rivals . . . For several years Casey has been moving out the dead wood, and it now looks as if he has a young team that should keep improving.

I went out on the limb for Eddie Miller last season, and he made good . . . He had the misfortune to suffer a broken leg when he had established himself as a National League sensation . . . You may now tab Sibby Sisti, 19-year-old second baseman . . . He will prove he is one of the best young ball players in the league . . . Phil Masi, youthful catcher, is also going places . . . It is time that Stengel and Bob Quinn received a break and I am rooting for it to arrive this season.

The Bees-Dodgers game at National League Park tomorrow will officially open the 1940 league season here . . . The Dodgers have pennant hopes, and will give the Bees strong competition . . . Leo Durocher has clicked as a manager . . . He has the backing of Larry MacPhail who makes up in sportsmanship for what he lacks in knowledge of the fine points of baseball . . . It was MacPhail who made such a smashing success of night baseball in Brooklyn.

N. E. Racing Season Opens Wednesday

THE NEW ENGLAND racing season will open at Narragansett Park on Wednesday afternoon . . . Thousands of racegoers who have been following the form of the thoroughbreds at Florida, California and Maryland tracks will have an opportunity to purchase $2 tickets on their choices, and then watch them in action.

It is expected that attendance and mutuel figures will be up in New England this year as was true in Florida and in Maryland . . . I do not believe that mutuel racing in New York, which was to get under way with the Jamaica meeting today, will reduce interest in the New England tracks . . . Narragansett Park has always been the big money maker of the New England horse tracks, and it should maintain its position.

There is more than passing interest in the Jamaica meeting in view of the fact it is the first time New York has had pari-mutuel betting . . . In the past, New Yorkers have done their betting through bookmakers who have conducted their business in front of clubhouse and grandstand . . . The bookmaker is technically barred under the new order of things, but it is expected that the large bookers will still have their agents at the New York tracks . . . As long as a person's credit is good, he will be able to nod to his favorite bookmaker, and tell him to wager a grand on a horse . . . No bookmaker was yet known to turn down such a wager regardless of the conditions under which it was offered.

Did You Get Your Trout Today?

THOUSANDS OF fishermen were along the banks of Massachusetts streams today trying to get a few trout . . . There has been more interest in the opening of the fishing season this year than ever before . . . In Connecticut fishermen were permitted to take their positions along their favorite streams over the week-end, but in this State it was necessary to wait until today to open the season.

If you would like to hear 100 interesting things about Marathon running I would suggest that you listen to the broadcast of Lester B. MacLellan, staff photographer of the Boston American-Sunday Advertiser, over WMEX at 8:15 p. m. tonight . . . "Mac" has been covering Marathons for 20 years, and he has numerous untold "inside" stories on the classic . . . Among other things "Mac" will tell that while the race on Friday is the 44th annual running of the Marathon the runners always didn't go the full route . . . In 1918 when this country was engaged in the World War ten runners each covered two and a half miles . . . Tune in on this interesting Marathon broadcast, and find out the stories that come to the attention of a crack cameraman.

HAMMERING HENRY ARMSTRONG is expected to arrive in town the latter part of the week to finish training for his 15-round world's welterweight championship bout with Paul Junior of Portland that will be staged by the Goodwin A. C. at the Garden on April 26 . . . Harry Kelley says the entire State of Maine will move into town for the championship bout . . . Al Buck, boxing editor of the New York Evening Post, is vacationing with relatives at Rockland . . . Al hails from Maine, and will not rteurn to New York until after the Armstrong-Paul Junior bout.

Lou Smith bowed into town for a few days . . . Lou says he will have the grandstand and clubhouse at Rockingham Park glassed in for the fall meeting.

There is a block of 1000 shares of Rockingham stock on the market . . . This amount of stock represents a one-tenth interest in the New York track . . . The offering is being made by a New York brokerage firm which has made recent sales of the stock at $62.50 a share.

BOWLING TOURNEY ENDS

By PINFALL

The curtain was rung down on the most brilliant and easily the most successful candlepin tourney in the five-year Boston-American-Record-Advertiser sponsorship of the Diamond Medal New England Championships, Saturday night at the Huntington Club.

All championships have been settled except for the men's open singles division. In this class the 22 survivors of the 84 standouts who started will offer the encore—a roll-off next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock sharp—as the added spice.

On this coming Saturday, the amateurs will receive their rewards in prizes and the professionals will step up for the checks.

SCORES RECHECKED

On this page are listed the unofficial champions in all but three events. The titles will not be formally recognized until Director Jack Stafford and his commitee recheck every score to make certain nothing has been overlooked.

The titles missing are the men's open singles, which will be decided Saturday, and the all events championships in the men's and women's classes. It appears that Ed Brown of North Adams has this clinched with 1024, but the figures on every bowler who took part in three events must be checked.

In the women's division, the scoring has been so even that anyone of a half-dozen may take the title.

Watch these pages this week for naming of official champions and listing of the awards.

AWARDS SATURDAY

These will be distributed Saturday night with everybody on hand who has helped make this tourney the greatest ever.

The Boston American would particularly like to thank Jack Stafford, director of the tourney; Frank Fallon, Dick Jones, Ed Ford, Charlie Sands and all others who helped put this championship over without a single hitch and in true title fashion.

BOWLING CHAMPS

The following are the Boston American-Record-Advertiser Diamond Medal New England Bowling Champions for 1940, according to tabulations. Official titleholders will be named early this week.

AMATEUR DIVISION

Pinboys' singles—Roy Beaumont, Lynn 338.

Boys' singles—Paul Petit, St. Louis High, Biddeford, Me., 344.

Men's singles—Charles Henning, West Roxbury 366.

Men's doubles—D. Webber, Kittery, Me., F. Amaziem, Kittery, Me., 700.

Men's teams—Central Alleys Five, Cambridge, 1675.

Mixed doubles—Margaret Higgins, Lawrence and Joe King, Rochester, N. H., 716.

Ladies' singles—Leona Harris, Derry, N. H. 338.

Ladies' doubles—Marion S. Pearce, Waltham and Marion E. Frost, West Newton 610.

Ladies' teams—Girls' Team, Haverhill City Alleys, Haverhill 1435.

Girls' singles—Dorothy Yando, Fitchburg 293.

College singles—Albert Toussaint, Tufts Dental 329.

OPEN DIVISION

girders, one of those hysterical heaves for which he gained well-deserved notoriety last year.

This naturally annoyed Mickey Harris who felt, as host of the party, such innovations should be left to him. So he knicked Andrews with his next pitch and filled the bases. Well, sir! this evoked the wildest admiration from the Red Sox dugout, but considerable jealousy on the part of Bobby Doerr, who stood there nibbling his nails and thinking of something daffier to do. So after the applause had died down, Macey came up and knocked a roller toward second base.

Quick to see the possibilities Bobby goosed the ball with his glove and stood over it making alternate right and left handed grabs till all hands were safe. It was nothing short of genius, and when the clouds rolled away the Bees had four runs on two hits, two errors, a hit batter and a base on balls. Still, in the end, the game didn't go into any official records and was only a fun-game in which the Sox purged a lot of bad baseball from their systems before leaving on the midnight train for Washington, D. C., to start their pennant idyll. It may be a much needed tonic.

This Young Man May

SOON BE BALD

HE now seems to have a good head of hair, but each morning he worries over the hair which he finds in his comb and brush. His hair looks nice on the surface, but his scalp itches constantly and is covered with scaly, sticky dandruff. Unless he does something he will be bald within 5 years, because he has seborrhea oleosa, an oily type of dandruff, which responds only to expert treatment.

He—and you, too—can avoid baldness by doing what a quarter-million other men have done—by consulting Thomas. A Thomas specialist will examine your scalp (without charge) and determine exactly which of the 14 local scalp disorders are causing your hair loss. He will then direct the reliable, 20-year proved Thomas treatment to overcome those scalp ills. Your abnormal hairfall will stop, your dandruff will disappear; and new hair will start to grow on the thin and bald spots. Why not come in today for the free scalp examination, and see for yourself how Thomas is helping others to retain or regain their hair, and how Thomas can help you, too.

GANSETT HEAD SEES GREAT YEAR FOR N. E. RACING

New England is standing upon the threshold of its greatest racing season if the predictions of Judge James E. Dooley, president of the Narragansett Racing Association come true.

Narragansett's head is viewing the coming months through rose-hued glasses as the Rhode Island meeting prepares to swing into action on Wednesday afternoon.

"For perhaps the first time in the history of the New England turf all three major race tracks in this sector are working in complete accord," Judge Dooley said today.

"This friendly spirit of co-operation is being reflected in the presence of better stables, better riders and better sport.

INTEREST GROWING

"Our optimism is not, we believe, misplaced. Looking back over the recent meetings at Florida, and the current Maryland season, we find increasing interest in the sport, reflected through larger attendance and mutuel handles.

"I think that the fact that the sport is so carefully governed, coupled with the thrill of speeding thoroughbreds, is a major factor in this winning and retaining of new friends.

"We look not so much at other meetings, however, as to our own approaching season. Narragansett Park is indeed fortunate to be host this spring to the best horses of the Florida season—Many Stings, of the older division, and General Jack of the youngsters, indicative of the high type of sport we will present.

"We also have the best riders in the country, the best trainers and some of the most powerful stables.

NEW RULES CITED

"We could speak of the improvements made at all three tracks, but we will leave that up to New England fandom. Let it suffice that we have left nothing undone to increase their comfort. The racing itself will be fortified by the addition of the Puett starting gate.

"Too much can not be said of the new regulations governing the Rhode Island sport this season. We are fortunate in having Mr. Louis C. Gerry in charge of the Racing Division, a man who is actively and courageously sponsoring so many new measures to improve racing.

"It is all these things that make us optimistic as Narragansett Park faces its spring meeting—its seventh year of legalized sport."

Mutuels In N. Y. Bow At Jamaica

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—With the 31st running of the Paumonok Handicap, traditional opening-day feature, horse racing returns to the Metropolitan district today at the Jamaica track.

But the race and the track are about the only things that will be familiar to the fans. Mutuel betting makes its first appearance in New York with today's card and that has brought about some big changes.

TRACK GUINEA PIG

Old Jamaica has been enlarged and thoroughly renovated in preparation to seeing service as a "guinea pig" during the meeting. It will hold a good many more spectators than before and of the 20,000 expected today, nearly half probably will be newcomers attracted by the wide publicity given the new form of betting.

The regulars, of course, are familiar with the "iron men" since they already are in use in all other states where racing is conducted. The success of mutuel betting, however, depends to a great extent on the occasional visitors to the track and Jamaica is expected to serve as a testing ground to determine how many there will be and how much they'll spend.

Only six horses have been nominated for the Paumonok, a six-furlong dash for a $7500 added purse. Favorite among them is William Woodward's Fighting Fox, trained by Jim Fitzsimmons, who saddled the 1938 and 1939 winners of the race.

THE CHIEF BACKED

Maxwell Howard's speedster, The Chief, and Mrs. Parker Corning's Straight Lead, one of the best two-year-olds last season and a candidate for the Preakness and Belmont, also are well liked.

Five Kentucky Derby eligibles are entered in a six-furlong supporting feature. They are J. H. Whitney's Carrier Pigeon, Russell Firestone's Marogay, Fenelon and Dusky Fox from Woodward's Belair Stud and Howard's Victory Morn. Arnold Hanger's Quaroma, a Preakness candidate, completes the field.

Dropkick Fete Managoff Plan

Bobby Managoff, speedy young matman from Chicago, will try to score a few field goals by dropkicking Ernie Dusek to defeat in the main event of Paul Bowser's mat show at the Arena on Wednesday night.

Managoff lost his match with Dusek a couple of months ago when one of his dropkicks floored the referee, and Dusek won in the ensuing excitement.

This time Bobby hopes to have better luck with his specialty.

The semifinal is an attractive supporting bout. Gus Sonnenberg will try to get a comeback under way against Marvin Westenberg. Both are ex-world's champion.

Other bouts include Olie Olsen vs. Billy Bartush, Jim Casey vs. George Linehan, and Pedro Brazil, champion of South America, vs. Liugi Bacigalupi.

Arlington Sale Parley On

CHICAGO, April 15 (INS)—Officials of the Arlington Park Jockey Club meet in Chicago today, reported to consider a proposal to sell the $2,000,000 Arlington Park race track.

It has been reported that a group headed by John D. Allen, Chicago business man, has offered to buy the property, for which the present owners paid $2,400,000 in 1929.

All parties in the supposed transaction withheld comment. Heaviest stockholder in the Arlington track is John Hertz, prominent in national racing circles.

NARRAGANSETT PARK

WILSON BACK FOR 'GANSETT MEETING

Dave Wilson, king of race track handicappers, was back in New England today getting last minute news on the horses which will take part in the opening of Narragansett Park on Wednesday. Wilson came to Boston from Bowie where he picked 35 winners in the 11-day meeting, topping all rivals.

Dave Wilson's handicaps on the Narragansett meet will be an exclusive feature of the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser.

The Race Special Edition of the Boston Evening American will publish Dave's code horses each day. The code may be secured in "Dave Wilson's Winners," which is on sale at all news stands and which may also be purchased at Narragansett Park this week.

The Race Special Edition of the Boston Evening American will have Wilson's graded handicaps, jockey changes, scratches, probable odds, Trackman's Last Performances on the horses at Narragansett, program selections, Clocker's Choices and Tap's Tips as well as racing entries and selections at Jamaica and all other tracks, and photo finish charts.

The Race Special Edition will be the most complete racing edition ever published in Boston.

LONGFUL DAVE'S ACE

By DAVE WILSON

BEST BET—LONGFUL IN 6th RACE

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 15—Longful recently returned to the racing wars at Bowie after being idle since last July and finished a smashing second to Wakita.

After a very slow start, the daughter of Longworth closed ground very fast but was a little short and was unable to reach the pacemaker and winner.

With that outing as a tightener, Longful should be fit enough to turn back a field of routers in the sixth stanza here today.

Longful is named as the card's best betting hazard.

Wilson Tops At Bowie With 35

Dave Wilson, king of handicappers, once more topped the field at the Bowie meeting that closed yesterday. Wilson picked 35 winners for the 11-day meeting.

Wilson also was the leading handicapper in the recent Tropical Park meeting.

Dave Wilson's Winners, weekly code book, has had a remarkable run of winners during the last seven racing days. Dave's $100 bankroll has soared to $200. Wilson's code horses may be secured each day in the Race Special Edition of the Boston American. Dave Wilson's Winners is one sale at all news stands.

YOUR BRIDE WANTS YOU TO BE WELL GROOMED

BOSTON, Apr. 14 (JW)—Today a high premium is put on personal appearance in all walks of life and a good head of hair is essential to that good appearance. It is too late when you are bald, and after that, money spent on so-called "Hair Growing" Treatments is wasted. Thousands of men have saved and improved their hair through treatment by John E. Warner, New England's leading hair and scalp specialist and many other cases have been rejected because beneficial results were not certain. At last 85% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be corrected if caught in time. The symptoms of approaching baldness are itchy or oily scalp, falling and thinning hair. Don't ignore these symptoms. A consultation with John E. Warner is advisable. There is no charge for a private consultation at his offices, 7th floor, 515 Washington St., near the corner of West st. (opp. R. H. White's). Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily. Saturdays, 10 A. M. to 6 P. M. Separate department for women. Phone HUB. 1705. Fees for treatment are moderate. Adv.
